NIXON GETS CONVENTION SUPPORT

Crash Injuries Prove Fatal To Frank Geib

Former CHS Athlete Dies Of Pneumonia In Fremont Hospital

Frank (Junior) Geib of Fremont, former Circleville High School athletic star, died Sunday in Memorial Hospital at Fremont as a result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident last July 23.

Geib, 32, was a son of former Herald Editor Glen Geib, who is now editor of the Fremont News-Messenger and president of the Associated Press Society of Ohio.

Having apparently recovered sufficiently from his injuries, Frank Geib was released from the hospital August 9, but he was readmitted four days later for treatment of pneumonia, a complication resulting from the accident injuries.

The deceased was a civil engineer and a graduate of Ohio State University. He was best known in this district however for his sensational play on the gridiron and basketball court at Circleville High.

THE ACCIDENT which resulted in the fatal injuries occurred while Geib was driving to Fremont from Findlay. He apparently fell asleep at the wheel and his car swerved off the highway, striking a concrete abutment.

Geib is survived by his wife, the former Elmina Morrison of Circleville.

Also among the survivors are his mother; a daughter, Nancy; a son, Michael; a brother, Gene, and a sister, Mary Ellen.

Funeral services will be held at the Keller Funeral Home in Fremont at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Phone Strike Talks Slated To Resume

PORTSMOUTH (AP)—Negotiations seeking to end a strike of 600 employees of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. were to resume here today.

A spokesman said Edward Phillips of Columbus, federal mediator, would hold separate sessions with representatives of the company and the Communications Workers of America.

If there is progress, he then will hold a joint meeting with the two groups.

The strike, affecting exchanges in parts of 24 southern and eastern Ohio counties, started more than a month ago and has been marked by violence. Union officials have denied responsibility for the violence.

Several exchanges have been closed but one at Sciotoville, closed last Thursday, was reopened Saturday and began serving 2,400 patrons.

Crash Kills Five In Ohio Family

CAMDEN, S. C. (AP)—An auto crashed into a bridge Sunday, killing all five members of a North Olmstead, Ohio, family.

Officers identified the victims as Robert Gray, his wife and their three children, Douglas, 13, Carry, 8, and Sue, 6.

Authorities said Mrs. Gray apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The victims died in flames when the car caught fire after the crash 12 miles north of here on U. S. 521.

The family was en route to St. Petersburg, Fla., to visit Mrs. Gray's mother.

Archbishop Dies

LONDON (AP)—Bernard Cardinal Griffin, archbishop of Westminster and Britain's highest Roman Catholic prelate, died early today after a heart attack. He was 57 and had been in poor health the past five years.

Republicans Seek Support Of Labor

Platform Cites Prosperous Times; No Dispute Seen On Civil Rights

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Republican platform writers today pitched for the labor vote this fall by pointing to record employment and saying that "the American wage earner . . . can buy more than ever before . . ."

Framing a tentative plank expected to be approved by the GOP national convention Tuesday they declared:

"The Eisenhower administration has brought to our people the highest employment, the highest wages and the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any nation."

They also charged that a Democratic-controlled Congress blocked "needed changes" in the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Act, and various administration-sponsored proposals in the health-welfare field.

Meanwhile, the 105-member drafting committee, after four hours of debate, approved early today a civil rights plank its chairman said would help the GOP in both the North and the South.

SOUTHERN MEMBERS intimated they were not so sure of Sen. Prescott Bush's optimism. But there was no indication the Dixie delegates would take the issue to the floor of the national convention opening today.

The wording of the plank was not made public, but it was understood to say the party "accepts" the Supreme Court decision barring racial segregation in the public schools as the law of the land.

It approves the civil rights recommendations of President Eisenhower, specifically mentioning proposals for a civil rights commission and to give the Department of Justice a new civil rights division.

Bush, of Connecticut, described the conclusions on civil rights as "very harmonious" and couched in language reflecting Eisenhower's views "very faithfully."

He also said the plank was stronger than that of the Democrats.

Was the South satisfied?

"No, not me," said Joe Parsons, chairman of the Virginia delegation. Then he added: "It (the plank) isn't so bad."

OTHER SOUTHERN delegates said the GOP document was one they could live with.

Asked if the Republicans now were in a position to criticize the Democrats on the civil rights issue, Bush said, "We are in a position to say our plank is better."

He added Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, an advocate of a strong plank, "gave some ground" but still achieved language which will be "more helpful in Chicago" than the Democratic opposition.

Dirksen is a candidate for re-election.

Riesel Sees Link In New Slaying

Blinded Columnist Notes Trucker Death

NEW YORK (AP)—Labor columnist Victor Riesel says the slaying of a truck driver Saturday is another link in a chain of underworld murders that have followed his blinding by acid.

The murders are "indicative of a terrific gang war which is just beginning in New York and will soon spread across the nation," Riesel said in a brief television appearance Sunday night.

Riesel, blinded by an acid-flinging hoodlum April 5, referred to the killing Saturday of Fred Mischner, 26. The truck driver was found with four bullets in his body in a hallway of a lower East Side tenement.

Police said, however, that there is "no definite association at this time" between Mischner's death and the slaying of Abraham Telvi, 22, last month.

The FBI has said Telvi was the man who tossed the acid at Riesel for a $1,000 fee.

TWO EX-CONVICTS were found dead in a parked automobile the same day Telvi's body was discovered. The two were wrapped in canvas and trussed with rope.

The FBI said the two knew "too much" about Telvi. They theorized that Telvi himself was slain by the underworld because some of the acid had splashed on his face and left him a marked man.

Still at large is the mastermind who engineered the wanton attack on the crusading, 41-year-old syndicated newspaper columnist. The FBI said the attack was ordered to prevent Riesel from telling a grand jury about labor racketeering.

Seven persons are under arrest in connection with the acid attack—five as material witnesses and two on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

In his TV appearance Sunday night, Riesel said the murders are a "disciplinary action" on the part of "underworld bosses."

"The is the most terrifically organized crime," said the columnist. "Hitting me was only a symbol that the men in crime, who make organized crime big business, will stop at nothing to get rid of their accusers."

India Seeking To Buy U.S. Surplus Crops

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Department officials said today India is negotiating for purchase of about 400 million dollars worth of surplus farm commodities from the United States.

Payment would be in Indian currency, rupees. If the sale goes through, it would be the largest single foreign currency purchase of U. S. farm products.

A department spokesman also said Brazil is negotiating for between 70 and 80 million dollars worth of U. S. wheat.

Gwynn Garnett, head of the department's foreign agricultural service, said the deals have not been completed but acknowledged they have been under consideration.

Wheat, flour, rice and cotton are among the commodities reportedly considered in the negotiations with India.

The sales price to India at current world prices is estimated at around 300 million dollars. This would be some 100 million dollars below the acquisition cost to the U. S. government under its price support program.

The commodities would be delivered over a three-year period.

Colleges Raising Fund For Olympics

DENVER (AP)—The NCAA Olympic committee says $326,102.47 has been raised by member colleges and universities for the U. S. Olympic fund.

The fund will be used to help train, equip and send to Australia this nation's Olympic Games representatives.

The fund's goal is $500,000. The money is contributed by spectators at athletic contests staged by member schools.

Surkont To Giants

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants today purchased Max Surkont, veteran right-handed pitcher, from the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League. Surkont will report to the Giants in Milwaukee tonight.

Dudley J. Carpenter has been promoted to the top position at the local branch of John W. Eshelman and Sons. As general manager of the firm's Circleville mill, he will succeed Herbert R. Eshelman Jr., who has been transferred to duties at the company's headquarters office in Lancaster, Pa. Carpenter has been associated with the Eshelman firm since the Circleville plant was opened more than a quarter-century ago. Within the past year, he has also become a prominent figure in Circleville's municipal life as a member of city council. He will take over his new duties at the Eshelman mill September 1. ### States Righters Thump Drums But There's Much Disinterest

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The Louisiana States Rights party has endorsed former Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews as its presidential nominee.

State Chairman Robert G. Chandler of Shreveport said, however, the selection of a nominee is subject to the will of a national States Rights convention, which the Louisiana group has scheduled in three weeks.

Chandler said his group is negotiating with several other southern states to call a presidential nominating convention. He did not name the states or predict when a convention would be held.

The plan is to put on the ballot a slate of electors pledged, not to the Democratic or Republican slate, but to a slate sworn to uphold segregation and states rights.

The Mississippi meeting was called by a faction already estranged from Gov. J. P. Coleman and other Democratic party leaders in the state who have shown no particular interest in a party bolt.

A principal cause for the disinterest in booming of a states rights movement is that it could endanger the South's strength in Congress. Southern lawmakers have gained the chairmanships of vital committees through seniority resulting from long tenure under the Democratic banner.

Their fight to hold those seats could be challenged by northern party members if the constituents of the southern congressmen should bolt.

Other factors slowing the splinter movement are traditional Democratic party loyalty and a fear that a third-party move would get no further than in 1948 when States Righters carried only four states.

News Briefs

MOWCOW (AP)—Pravda said today the outlawed Communist party in West Germany will continue to fight—presumably underground—for "a radiant new future for the German nation."

BERLIN (AP)—A sign of changing Communist times: East Germany's first state-run shop renting men's evening clothes was opened in East Berlin today. In the old Stalinist days, East German Communists followed the example of their Soviet comrades and did their best to avoid being well dressed.

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said today the Soviet Ministry of Light Industries has decided to speed up clothing production by "gluing the seams of clothing together instead of sewing them."

The broadcast gave no details of the glue to be used.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Syria and Turkey have withdrawn their regular armed forces along the Turkish-Syrian border to ease tension, an Interior Ministry spokesman said today.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—A cabinet minister says this country, Egypt and Saudi Arabia will help pay for equipping the Jordan national guard for defense against Israel.

No Settlement Yet Of Suez Dispute, But Threat Fading

LONDON (AP)—The 22-nation Suez conference reached a show-down stage today with Egypt and the West still miles apart. But some delegates said the danger of a shooting war is fading.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon drew up a climactic compromise bid with the hope of bringing the West and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser together.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles met with Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov, presumably to fill him in on the West's firm stand for Dulles' proposal of an international authority to operate the canal.

This Egypt has already rejected.

There were indications the document which would emerge from the conference would contain a variety of viewpoints but with a majority of the delegates supporting the Dulles plan.

WHATEVER THE immediate outcome of the conference, one high Western official said he is convinced military action in the Mediterranean is now remote. He said Prime Minister Anthony Eden is now thinking in terms of moral rather than military persuasion.

Menon, it was reported, has been unable to sell his compromise plan completely to either side.

Menon's compromise plan calls for a two-tier system of managing the canal. At the top would be an Egyptian directorate and underneath an international body, including foreign users of the canal.

While the Egyptian directorate would have the final word of operation of the canal, it would be bound to seek advice of the international group on such questions as development and financing.

Fifteen countries were reported lined up behind the plan Dulles was to introduce.

The new rejection of Dulles' proposal was made by Ali Sabry, President Nasser's top political aide who is in London observing the 22-nation conference from the sidelines. Egypt declined to attend the conference.

Stevenson Plans Whistlestop Drive

Truman, Kefauver Participation Outlined In Libertyville Confab

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson gave enthusiastic approval today to an airplane and "whistlestop" train campaign embracing virtually every key state in the country.

He booked time Sept. 13 for a 30-minute, nationwide television address in a drive that will continue without letup until the eve of the election.

And it will cover full participation by former President Harry S. Truman and Sen. Estes Kefauver, Stevenson's vice presidential running mate.

Campaigning will be concentrated in states where Democratic prospects for victory appear brightest.

The conferees, at a dinner Sunday night in Stevenson's home, rejected any idea of the campaigner making President Eisenhower's health an issue.

"The average American rebels at the thought of a man's illness becoming a focal point in a campaign," reporters were told by James A. Finnegan, Philadelphia, Stevenson's campaign manager.

"You don't trust a man's illness in his face. The health question is one for the American people to consider for themselves."

FINNEGAN SAID Stevenson's headquarters will be moved to Washington "as quickly as possible" and his entire campaign against Eisenhower will be directed from there in coordination with the national committee.

"But don't expect Gov. Stevenson to spend much time in Washington," he added. "He'll be out on the stump from the time the campaign starts."

Finnegan said he hoped that Truman's services, like those of

Ohio Delegates Backing Nixon

Vote Unanimously During Caucus

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Ohio delegation to the Republican convention voted unanimously today to cast its 56 votes for the renomination of Vice President Nixon.

The action was taken at the delegation's first caucus—a closed-door meeting at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, Ohio headquarters.

Ray C. Bliss, chairman of the delegation, told newsmen the motion to back Nixon was offered by Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Ohio's Republican national committeeman.

Mrs. Katherine K. Brown, the state's national committeewoman, seconded the motion. Sen. Bricker urged support for Nixon.

Sen. Bender moved that the nominations be closed and the motion endorsing Nixon was carried unanimously.

BRICKER, IN talking with newsmen after the caucus noted that Nixon has roots in Ohio as his grandparents came from the state and his father was once a streetcar conductor in Ohio.

In answer to questions Bricker said he would be happy to make a speech seconding Nixon's nomination but that nothing definite along that line had been arranged.

Bliss said both he and Bricker had been informed Nixon would campaign in Ohio this fall. Bliss also said that he has "reason to believe" President Eisenhower will make a talk in the state.

The delegation's caucus was cut short so that the members could get out of the Cow Palace in time for the opening session of the convention.

Bliss said he had called another conference for Wednesday morning.

Hodge Says He Needed Money For Expenses

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Orville Hodge took the witness stand Monday in Sangamon County Circuit Court and gave his version of the 1 1/2 million dollar state check cashing swindle.

State's Atty. George P. Coutrak, seeking a stiff state sentence against the former state auditor, called upon Hodge to tell why he diverted huge amounts of state money. Hodge has pleaded guilty.

Hodge, coughing and gagging during the hearing, was questioned for two hours before court recessed until 1:30 p. m.

Coutrak said he had four or five more witnesses to call this afternoon in advance of Hodge's sentencing.

"I took the money because I wanted to make investments, and I needed it for political purposes," Hodge testified, "and my expenses were heavy."

He said he believes that he began to use state funds in April, 1954.

Hodge, who pleaded guilty to state charges of embezzlement, forgery and confidence game a week ago, has spent most of the time since then in a hospital. Doctors said he was suffering from a nervous disorder.

Wednesday, he was taken from the hospital to Chicago and sentenced by U. S. Dist. Judge John P. Barnes to 10 years imprisonment for misapplying $872,000 in federally-insured bank funds.

Another 10 years' sentence was held open to suspension following completion of arrangements for restitution to the state by Hodge.

Ohio Solon Wants Business Tax Cut

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—Jackson E. Betts, Republican representative of the eighth Ohio congressional district, wired the platform committee of the Republican National Convention today urging it to adopt the White House plan for cutting small business taxes.

Betts said he conducted a survey in his district to get views on tax relief from small businessmen. He said the White House plan closely parallels needs indicated by his survey.

Picketing Is Brief At Bell Building

CLEVELAND (AP)—For a brief period today pickets appeared at the main building of Ohio Bell Telephone Co., while negotiators in New York were attempting to reach an agreement with Western Electric Co.

Less than two hours later Christy P. Nicholas, area representative of the Communications Workers Union, said he received word from the union's headquarters to withdraw the picket line because progress was being made in the negotiations.

There was no affect on the operations of Ohio Bell.

Western Electric installers, working mainly in Ohio Bell buildings, number about 300 in this area.

Big GOP Party Pageant Opening In Cow Palace

His Vice President Drive Leaves Stassen 'Loneliest Man'

COW PALACE, SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Republicans, untroubled by any major problems, plunged confidently today into a pageant-convention pitched to blunt Democratic attacks and win votes for reelection of an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

Any earlier doubts in the minds of delegates that Richard M. Nixon would again be the running mate for President Eisenhower had been pretty well removed by opening time of the party convention.

Harold E. Stassen had got no where with his weekend plugging here for delegates to join his "dumpy" Nixon crusade. He was about the loneliest man in town.

And word to associates of Nixon was that Eisenhower would leave the track clear to him by taking no action, publicly or privately, to tab any list of others as equally acceptable to him.

Delegates saw, on coming into this hall, big 10-20-foot pictures of Eisenhower and Nixon at one end.

THE NEAREST thing to a disagreement to crop up in the pre-convention preparations was some argument over a civil rights plank in the platform.

This was wrapped up early today with committee approval of a plank which—as happened with the Democrats—was not all what either side of the argument wanted, but seemed acceptable to both.

The wording was not immediately made public but was reported to say the party "accepts" as law of the land the Supreme Court's pronouncement that racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

Further, it was understood to approve the civil rights proposals submitted to Congress by President Eisenhower.

Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut, chairman of the drafting committee, told newsmen he thought the plank was stronger than the Democrats' plank.

BY TONING down an earlier draft described as stronger, the GOP hoped to help Eisenhower repeat his 1952 feat of taking four southern states and also improve their bids to pick up congressional gains in border states.

In the absence of any real struggle over men or issues, the convention atmosphere took on somewhat that of a society wedding.

The principals were known in advance. So were the ceremonies. Nobody anticipated any surprises. Everybody was confident of a happy future.

Stassen had pinned his drive to replace Nixon on a hope that Eisenhower would let it be known before the convention's balloting session Wednesday that some others would be equally suitable as a vice presidential nominee.

Stassen, on leave of absence as Eisenhower's disarmament assistant, has been plugging for re-

Unionization Of Teachers Sought

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers Monday asked delegates to the 40th anniversary convention to adopt a program to end what he called "teacher futility and educational mediocrity" in public schools.

Carl J. Megel of Chicago, in an address at the convention's opening session, told some 700 delegates that the A. F. of T. must work for "recognition by school boards of the right of teachers everywhere to organize, negotiate and bargain collectively."

Megel also called for a "single salary schedule for teachers starting with $5,000 a year at the bachelor's level, and reaching $9,000 in eight or less annual steps, as well as an added pay spread for training and experience."

"TOUPEE FOR ELVIS PRESLEY"

Mrs. Schwine insisted that I use this Droodle and although she didn't actually twist my arm, she had a judo hold on my neck, so what could I do. Every time some new show business personality comes along she flips her lid and we have to put up with it until the craze wears off. When Charles Boyer came to America she started talking with a French accent. During the Patty Burckle rage she took off a few pounds. For George Gobel she got a crew hair cut. For Liberace she had her teeth straightened. And now, for Elvis, she's going to let her sideburns grow. But, personally, I don't think it's a good idea. They'll clash with her Groucho Marx mustache.

Luctant Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

Herter is asking Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., the convention's permanent chairman, to withdraw his name if it is offered for second place on the ticket.

NIXON NAMED Sen. William Knowland of California, the Senate's minority leader, as his floor manager for any convention fight that might develop.

Knowland himself was a presidential aspirant who entered primaries earlier in the year on the basis that he was a candidate if Eisenhower didn't run again.

His designation as floor manager meant Knowland had thrown in his lot with Nixon, switching from his previous political alliance with California's Gov. Goodwin J. Knight.

But if there was to be an "open" convention with several candidates, friends said Nixon and his team will be ready to fight for his renomination.

They said confidential surveys indicated the vice president can count on about 900 of the convention's 1,323 nominating votes in any ballot showdown.

Bid Let To Build Water Retaining Wall In Tarlton

A contract has been awarded to the C. F. Repligie Construction Co. of Circleville to build a bintype retaining wall in Tarlton. It was announced today by the Pickaway County Commissioners' office. The firm bid $13,423.60 to get the job.

According to Commissioner Bill Goode, construction of the retaining wall will begin as soon as the local firm is able to get the necessary steel.

Purpose of the wall is to prevent water from washing away a road that crosses Saltcreek near the center of the community.

Car Collisions Injure Three Out-Of-Staters

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in two traffic accidents in Pickaway County over the weekend.

In a head-on collision seven miles south of Circleville on Route 23 Saturday morning, Ruth Dean, 60, of Pikeville, Ky., suffered multiple lacerations on the forehead and scalp. She was treated at Berger Hospital and later released.

Otis R. Baker, 28, of Steinman, Va., received a laceration near the right eye in the two-car mishap. He received first aid at the scene.

The accident occurred on a detour road near a highway construction area, according to State Patrolman Gene Miller. A car driven by Elsie T. Baker, 28, of Steinman, Va., reportedly moved into the wrong lane of traffic on the detour road and smashed into a vehicle going north, driven by Samuel M. Dean, 65, of Pikeville, Ky.

Patrolman Miller said the Baker automobile apparently was following other southbound traffic, which was also using the wrong lane of the detour road. No arrests were made.

Irma Bosway, 43, of Cleveland, suffered a twisted neck in the second accident, which happened Sunday at 11:45 a. m., five miles west of Circleville at the intersection of Routes 22 and 138.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey said a car driven by James Schlender, 23, of Pittsburgh, Pa., struck another vehicle operated by Steve Bosway, 49, of Cleveland.

According to Felkey, Schlender attempted to pass a car that had slowed down to make a left turn. However, before Schlender could drive around the car, he crashed into the Bosway automobile coming from the opposite direction.

Tydings Bows Out; Maryland Dems On Hunt

BALTIMORE —The dramatic withdrawal of Millard E. Tydings left Maryland Democrats looking today for a new candidate to oppose Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler in the November elections.

Tydings, who was out to regain the seat he held 24 years before Butler defeated him in a controversial 1950 race, announced last night he was quitting his comeback campaign because of ill health.

Now 66, the tall, spare veteran of clashes with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has been suffering from a severe case of shingles.

He was stricken shortly after beating George P. Mahoney, Baltimore paving contractor, by a razor-edge margin in the May 7 primary.

His successor is expected to be named Wednesday night at a special meeting of the state central committee.

Besides Mahoney, those prominently mentioned as possible replacements included former U. S. Solicitor Gen. Philip B. Perlman, William C. Walsh and Michael J. Birmingham.

Tydings, who had been hospitalized 46 days by the shingles virus which painfully attacks nerve endings, told a small group of political associates at his Havre De Grace home Sunday night that doctors had warned him a strenuous campaign might cause a recurrence.

Carpenter Named Eshelman Manager

H. R. Eshelman Jr., Present Head, To Take Post At Lancaster, Pa.

John W. Eshelman and Sons today announced the appointment of Dudley J. Carpenter as general manager of the firm's Circleville plant, effective September 1.

In taking over the top position at the Eshelman mill here, Carpenter will move into the office now held by Herbert R. Eshelman Jr., Eshelman, vice-president of the company, will go to Lancaster, Pa., and assume duties at the firm's headquarters in that city.

Carpenter, 45, was first employed by the Eshelman firm when the Circleville plant was opened in July, 1939. He spent several years in the production branch in various capacities.

Later transferred to the mill office, he served as a clerk in the traffic department, order clerk, assistant in the sales and credit department, assistant in the purchasing department, and for the last several years as assistant to the general manager.

CARPENTER, a native of Circleville, married the former Mary E. Neff. They have two sons, James W. Carpenter, chaplain's aide at Fort Ord, Cal., and David E. Carpenter, a senior at Circleville High School. The Carpenter residence is on N. Pickaway St. The new top executive graduated from Circleville High School in 1928 and later attended the University of Michigan.

Within the past several months, he has become well known in public life as a member of Circleville city council, having accepted an invitation to fill a vacancy on the law-making body.

Carpenter is an elder of Trinity Lutheran Church, a director of the Third National Bank, and a member of the planning committee for the Animal Nutrition Conference. He is a past president of the Pickaway Country Club.

Eshelman came to Circleville in 1946. From his new offices in Lancaster, Pa., he will coordinate company policies at the various Eshelman mills.

In addition to the plant here, the company has mills at Tampa, Fla., Sanford, N. C., and Chamblee, Ga.

ESHELMAN graduated from Yale University in 1936, and started with the company at Lancaster. He covered a sales territory in Western Pennsylvania, then managed a company-owned grain elevator at Washington, C. H.

From 1942-1945 he served in the U. S. Navy. After his discharge, he was assigned to Eshelman's Circleville purchasing department and in 1946 was appointed manager of the Circleville plant.

Municipal Court Cases Headed By 'Drunk' Drivers, Speeders

Cases involving "drunk" drivers and speeders headed the list of violations heard in Circleville Municipal Court over the weekend.

Thomas C. Mitchell, 28, of Columbus received two fines for a double violation. He was fined $100 and costs, sentenced to three days in jail and had his drivers license suspended for six months for driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Mitchell was also fined $25 and costs for failure to comply with a restriction on his operator's license. It required him to have an outside rear view mirror on his car.

He was arrested by Officer LeRoy Hawkes.

Storms Cross Ohio, Blamed For 5 Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vicious storms whipped through Ohio Saturday and were blamed for five deaths.

The weekend toll of accidental deaths in the state stood at 19, with nine occurring in traffic.

The tabulation of fatalities is made in an Associated Press survey covering the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

The storm deaths occurred in two separate incidents. A man and his wife died when a tree and power lines fell on their car in Trumbull County. And a mother and her two children drowned in Sandusky Bay when high winds accompanying a storm overturned their speed boat.

Two women died in a Cleveland apartment house fire. A Middletown man apparently went to sleep along a river bank, rolled into the water and drowned.

A 19-year-old Knox County youth was killed in the crash of an automobile being chased by a highway patrolman for speeding. Two men died when hit by trains—one in Dayton, the other in Cincinnati.

State Fair Plans Additional Buses

Shuttle buses, which made round trips of the fairgrounds area on regular schedules during the 1955 Ohio State Fair, have proved so popular that Manager Sam C. Cashman is adding a third round bus for the 1956 exposition, which opens next Friday.

During the eight-day fair 16 of the tractor-drawn shuttle buses will be in constant use, making regular stops at designated spots. Round trip fare will be 10 cents.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Democratic and Republican platforms—those promises of what they'll do if the voters elect them—are a combination of good intentions and plain political bunk.

The prime example: Their planks on foreign policy. The rarest thing in a political platform is a new idea. You won't find a single one in the two parties' foreign policy planks if you search them from end to end.

With perhaps one main exception—arms for Israel—you will find no real differences between the parties' foreign policies.

From 1933 to 1953, while they ran the show, the Democrats put together a number of basic foreign policies and programs. The Republicans took them over lock, stock and barrel when they were elected four years ago.

So the differences between Democrats and Republicans are on how the policies and programs, now the property of both parties, are being handled. The Democrats say they could do it better, the Republicans say they're doing fine.

For example: Both Democratic and Republican foreign policy planks pledge the two parties to continue foreign aid, to help underdeveloped countries, to rely on collective security against Communist aggression, to support the U.N., to back Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese on Formosa, to oppose a seat for Red China in U.N., to continue to seek the freedom of Americans held prisoner by the Red Chinese, to work for the unity of Western Europe, to preserve peace in the Middle East, to intensify cooperation with Latin America.

The Republicans refrain—in saying they will try to keep peace in the Middle East—from saying they will give arms to Israel. The Democrats pledge themselves to help arm the Israelis.

The plank in the two foreign policy planks is dished out in big chunks.

The Democrats, blasting the Republicans' handling of foreign affairs, find nothing good to say about President Eisenhower's performance. And they omit any mention of this fact: That fear of war between the United States and Russia has receded greatly under Eisenhower and since his meeting with the Russians.

But the Republicans, apparently hoping that voters are not too familiar with the details of foreign affairs, shovel out bunk of their own.

They claim "international communism" has shown "hesitance both at home and abroad." That's bunk. The Russians have become economically aggressive since they began talking more peacefully.

They have the administration concerned by their offers of aid to backward countries, by their growing influence in the Middle East. The administration has found no new way to cope with them. It's relying on the tried remedies: Foreign aid and big loans.

The Republicans talk, as if with pride, about the liberation of Austria from occupation rule and the fact she is independent. The Eisenhower administration didn't bring that about.

Austria became free and independent only because the Russians—decided to withdraw their troops. The Democrats had been trying to get the Russians to do that. The Eisenhower administration simply adopted the same policy and finally the Russians withdrew.

Again the Republicans speak as if with pride about the condition of Viet Nam in Indochina which, the Republican plank says, is "now free and independent."

But what the plank carefully omits saying is this: Since the Eisenhower administration took over, the Indochinese Communists forced the French—while the United States looked on helplessly—to split Viet Nam in half. They hold the northern part.

Stab Wound Fatal To Cincinnati Man

CINCINNATI (AP)—Delmar Lovett, 40, died Sunday at General Hospital of a stab wound suffered Saturday night at the home of a friend, Delbert R. Troxel, 36.

Police said Troxel told them he stabbed Lovett when the victim tried to enter his home without permission. No charge was filed against Troxel.

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

(Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea. of the Courthouse in Circleville.)

Q—Are Officers in the Public Health Service, and attached to the Coast Guard eligible for veterans benefits?

A—I had to look this one up in my VA Regulations, and according to VA Regulation 1001 Par E, Officers of the Public Health Service who were detailed for duty with the Army or Navy (which includes Coast Guard) are included as officers in active service. This paragraph E is a very lengthy paragraph, but to me, it means but one thing, and that is that officers in the Public Health Service are eligible for benefits, the same as officers in one of the other services.

Q—How soon after my discharge must I file for out-patient dental treatment?

A—You must file for out-patient dental treatment within one year after your discharge. If you wait beyond this year, even though you have service-connected teeth, the claim will not be allowed.

Q—I understand the VA is reviewing all service-connected cases to find out if they are all rated correctly. Is this correct?

A—Yes that is correct. In 1954, the VA started to review 1,713,000 cases of veterans who are drawing service connected compensation, and veterans under the age of 55 who are receiving total non service-connected pensions. To date, they have reviewed 503,400 cases, and 95 percent of these were considered as sound and needed no adjustment.

Q—What ever happened to that law which would allow veterans that reached the age of 65 to be eligible for a pension provided their income was not too great?

A—It was shelved—no action was taken on it in the upper house. As we all know, the lower house passed it, and sent it up for final passage. Let's hope that when Congress meets again, someone will dust this bill off and try to get it passed.

Q—When is the deadline date for making application for a GI Loan for a World War II vet?

A—I have good news on this one. Congress has passed a law allowing the deadline date, which was originally July 25, 1957 to be extended to July 25, 1958, and also allowing all applications that are in the process of being completed on that date to be completed.

Bakery Struck

AKRON (AP)—A machinists union strike closed the Continental Baking Co. plant here Sunday when bakery workers union members refused to cross picket lines. Both unions, with a total membership of 106, are seeking 30-cent hourly wage increases on average pay of $2 an hour and have been in negotiations since May 1.

'Blown From Bed' By Lightning Bolt

CINCINNATI (AP)—A lightning bolt plunged through the roof of a home in suburban Greenhills Sunday and burned the bed of Earl Scheve while he slept. But his only injuries were "a couple of tiny burns" on his back. Scheve's wife said she thought her husband had been killed. "Then I saw him standing up. He must have been blown out of bed, he doesn't know what happened. But I never saw anybody get out of bed so fast."

PUZZLING PRELUDE
IN A WORLD jumpy about any incident that could lead to war, the calmness that has met news of the invasion of Burma by the Chinese Communists has been unusual. It may be because world attention is focused on the Suez Canal nationalization by Egypt's President Nasser.

Also, there apparently has long been border confusion in the areas the Chinese reds reportedly are invading and occupying. For a long time Nationalist Chinese roamed these areas after they were thrust out of China.

The low-pressure reaction from the Western powers should surprise no one because Burma has consistently maintained an extreme "neutralist" position, refusing to say anything critical of the communists, let alone join any defensive alliance against them. The West now can afford the attitude of letting the Burmese stew in their own juice.

Whether this attitude will continue if the reds try to occupy all of this rich rice-growing region remains to be seen.

The most interesting question of all is why the communists chose this time to invade. The international experts have been predicting that as soon as the American November elections are out of the way a strong effort will be launched to seat Red China in the United Nations.

The United States is expected to resist this strongly. In the past American representatives in the UN have insisted that Red China shouldn't be allowed to "shoot her way into the United Nations."

The current invasion of Burma, no matter how limited, will only strengthen the hand of the United States and other nations opposing Red China's entry. It is a puzzling prelude to the communists' announced goal.

JAIL FOR TIP TAX DODGERS

HOW TOURISTS get taken was never more graphically illustrated than in the case of the head waiter of a New York hotel, who copped a plea of guilty to income tax evasion charges. His income in less than two years was $60,000, mostly from tips. His salary was $3,000 a year.

Nor is this an isolated case. His predecessor was sentenced to four months in jail on similar charges. His income was approximately the same.

Some persons will ask, why do travelers tip so outrageously? In many instances their lives are made miserable if they try to resist the gouge. For some years many tourists sought to circumvent what they regarded as a holdup by patronizing tourist cabins.

But the tourist cabin is going the way of the dodo. More and more new ones are being built—now called motels—with swimming pools, door men, and who knows what. It pleases many travelers, however, to read that some of the tip tycoons are being sent to jail.

Tourists from the states visiting Canada this Summer will set a new record, it is reported from Ottawa. Evidently "See America First" is becoming more than a slogan.

'Slogan' Smythe Is Gone

NEW YORK (AP)—Death has claimed "Slogan" Smythe. The Republicans will miss him.

Things won't be the same without him at the GOP National Convention in San Francisco this week.

J. Henry Smythe, who became America's first professional sloganizer (he coined 100,000 slogans) has been a leading figure at Republican national conventions for more than half a century.

As some men are fire buffs, Smythe, who never sought or held public office, became a political buff.

At his first Republican convention in 1904 he leaped to the platform during a lull and bellowed through a megaphone:

"Hurrah for Teddy Roosevelt."

The roar of applause that followed set fire to young Smythe's mild soul. He never again achieved the spotlight, but he could no more stay away from a Republican convention than a toper could turn away from a bottle.

George E. Sokolsky's These Days

Wayne Morse, former Republican, now a Democrat, really belongs to no party because he is an intense individualist who calls himself a Constitutional Liberal. His speech at the Democratic Convention was, in a sense, out of place because it was too elevated, too literate, too considered, too philosophic for his audience who applauded at the wrong time and, as the television demonstrated, paid little heed to him. I telephoned to a delegate to discuss Morse's speech; he told me the noise was so distressing that where he sat not a word could be heard.

Wayne Morse was used on the program to help him win his Senatorial seat in Oregon despite his violation of American tradition against mugwumpism. This must have been true about all those Senatorial candidates who read planks of the platform while caucuses were being held, on the floor. Radio and television reduces the delegates to sweating robots; the speeches are made for the television audience.

Morse did two things in his speech: he attacked the entire position of the Southern Democrats by denying the right of the Southern states to place any restrictions upon specific American citizens, namely, Negroes. This he did at a Democratic Convention where he appeared for the first time. Secondly, he spoke up for Federal aid to education which would be popular among Democrats, but his insistence upon using off-shore oil for education is not so popular among Texans, for instance.

It was a courageous thing to do, but the reason that Morse could deliver his particular type of address, which over the next four years will have a greater influence upon the course of events than many other events at Chicago, is that he does not regard himself as a Republican or a Democrat but as a Constitutional Liberal which is traditional Americanism. He may find several Republicans who hold to the same position.

It is interesting historically that Wayne Morse's conception of American political life was George Washington's who, in his Farewell Address, said:

"I have already intimated to you the danger of parties in the State, with particular reference to the founding of them on geographical discrimination. Let me now take a more comprehensive view, and warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party, generally.

"This spirit, unfortunately, is inseparable from our nature, having its root in the strongest passions of the human mind. It exists under different shapes in all governments, more or less stifled, controlled, or repressed; but in those of the popular form it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."

Washington regarded the political party as leading to despotism. He said:

"...The disorders and miseries which result gradually incline the minds of men to seek security and repose in the absolute power of an individual; and sooner or later the chief of some prevailing faction, more able or more fortunate than his competitors, turns this disposition to the purposes of his own elevation, on the ruins of public liberty."

When And How To Use Packs And Compresses

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
DURING family illnesses—and you know how often they occur—a homemaker frequently must substitute as a nurse. For certain minor ailments she usually can act on her own. For more serious disorders, she'll have to follow the advice of the family physician.
Helpful aids in treating many discomforts are simple applications of heat or cold or a medication to a particular portion of the body or to the entire body.

Do You Know?
If your doctor should recommend a hot or cold pack or a poultice for a patient in your home, would you know what to do?
Every homemaker should be acquainted with a few fundamentals such as how to apply moist heat. The purpose of a moist hot application is to ease pain, supply moisture and to promote muscle relaxation, circulation and drainage of a wound.

It can be given either by applying hot compresses to the affected area or by soaking the area in an easily made solution. Generally, your doctor will recommend one of the following solutions:
Three per cent boric acid, or three to six per cent magnesium sulfate, or .09 per cent isotonic salt, mixed with water.
The temperature of the solutions when they are applied should be about 120 degrees. You can keep them warm by frequently adding small amounts of hot solution.
As for compresses which may contain any one of several medicinal substances, you can use towels, flannel, gauze or cotton. For certain cases, one may be better than the others.
Warm and Moist
Keep these moist compresses warm by placing a hot water bag on top. Or, you can keep them warm and moist, too, by wrapping the entire area in cellophane or oilskin.
When using compresses or solutions on an open wound, remember they must be sterile.
Usually, it's a good idea to interrupt these soaks or applications occasionally to prevent the skin from becoming waterlogged.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
R. B.: I am 41 and my nose is becoming gradually larger. It is forming lumps and looks somewhat purplish. What can I do for it?
Answer: From your description you are suffering from rhinophyma of the nose, which is due to a disorder of the oil glands of the nose. Usually a plastic surgeon can clear up this disease.

You could tell the Democratic convention was wide open. Some delegates couldn't find where they sat and others couldn't find where they stood.

With the Republicans things are different. It's all for one and one for Herter.

As far as the TV audience is concerned, the Republican convention amounts to an anti-climax. Like an old revival after a who-dunnit.

The Chicago stockyards district was the right place. That's where they heard beefs.

The Democrats call Chicago their "lucky city." It's also called the Windy City.

It comes to mind what little attention the public pays to party platforms. Never have so many said so much to so few.

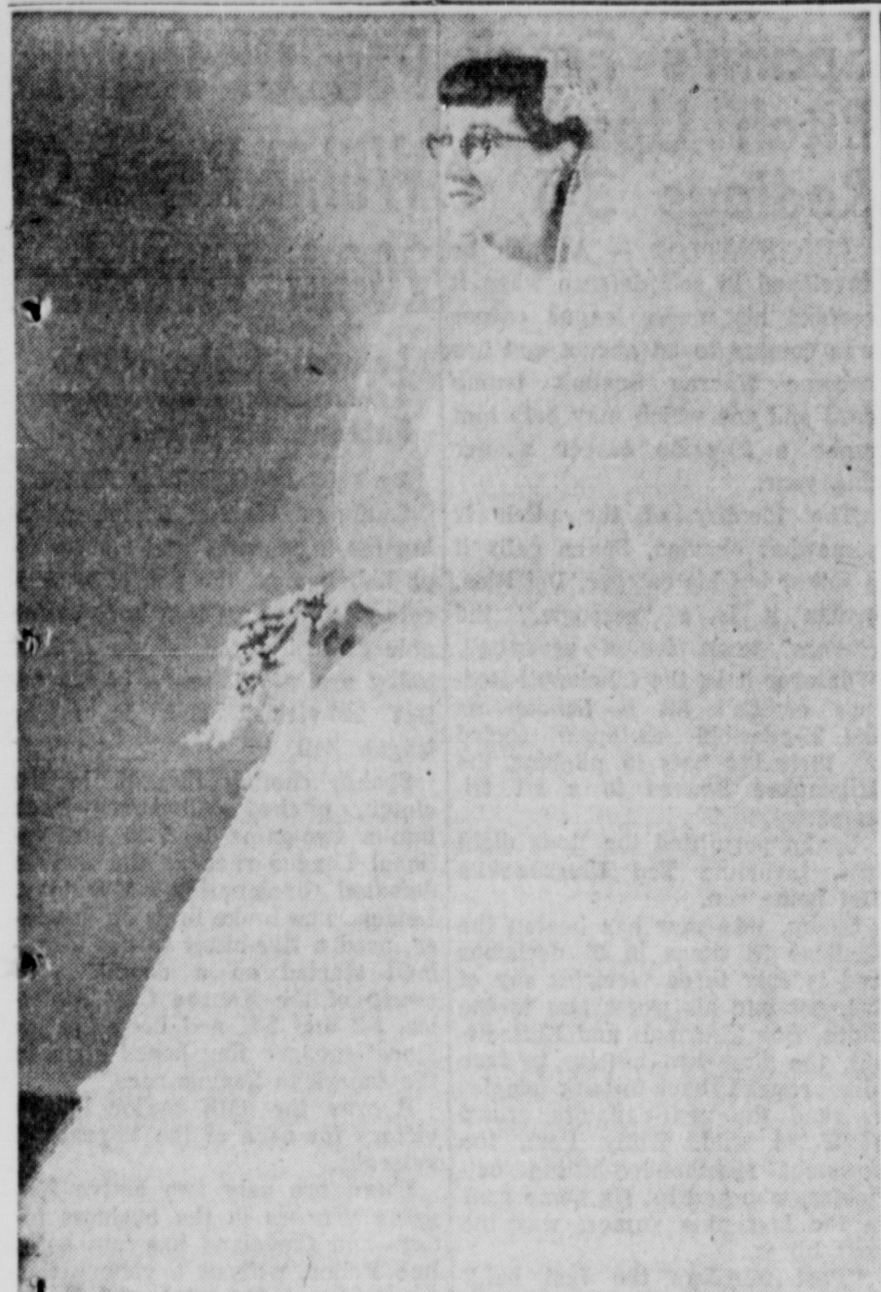

She left him the dogs.

CHAPTER 25
CHAD did not believe Hazel Barr's story, but she had said enough to disturb him. Like the tiny, barbed needles of a household cactus plant, her charge and her implications got under the skin, itched a bit, then prickled and then hurt. Logic said there was no connection between Wilkins-Smith's attack upon the clinic, the evidence he had acquired to back up his attack, and the fact that Lacey Van Horn was a widow. Widowed in a fashion that "no one spoke of." Except Miss Barr.
Lacey would not deceive a man; certainly she would not bring him to his death by any involved trickery. Just as surely she would not steal or "wangle" the means to destroy her mother's pet project, and discredit Chad; she wouldn't do any of those things for any purpose! Chad knew that! But even in making that mental declaration, he linked the two things; there was some connection, actually, somehow.
Dr. Van Horn, four years dead, and Wilkins-Smith, whom Chad had never met...
He could not pass off the connection between those two men as coincidental! He must think the thing through, sensibly and logically.
He left the clinic by the rear door, struck off through the park and then along the streets of Burbank. He went along a tree-bordered highway, climbed one fence, crossed a pasture, crawled under another fence—
He walked the whole night out, stopping at times to sit thoughtfully in the darkness of someone's orchard, or to perch on a lunch stand's red-cushioned stool, to drink coffee and think...
He tried to avoid thought of Lacey. Yet he must think about her. When dawn began to draw pencil-like marks upon the gray countryside, he still did not believe Hazel Barr's story.
But he had to realize, he told himself, that Lacey the lovely, Lacey the sweet, the youthful, the tender, was not young innocence, unspoiled by life, untouched by it. Not any more than she was the nursemaid he had first decided her to be.
Had Lacey known the seriousness of her husband's heart condition? Chad could not imagine her deliberately staging an emotional scene which she knew would be dangerous to him. Perhaps on that tragic night she had been in bed, and the man had died from any one of a dozen causes. Over-fatigue, a heavy cold, or—maybe—after a scene with someone else.
That sweet air of Lacey's, as cool and as lovely as the first soft breeze of spring. Her gentle serenity. That couldn't be a practiced line! Yet—it could be. In the cradle, women were actresses. So Lacey, through training, or for some purpose of her own, could speak with the voice of a dove, smile in a way to caress a man's nerves, and be—
But he loved Lacey. He did love her! There wasn't a fiber in his body that did not cry out for her, no nerve but quivered at the thought of her. He knew with absolute certainty that if ever Chadburn Mays was to settle into a home, have a family or engage in some stable sort of medical practice, it would be with Lacey.
He had to have Lacey! He would have her. Even if he knew that she was a cheat and a liar; even if he knew that she was a murderer—he had to have her. Marry her.
It was one of those mornings when Johnny seemed quite ready to drowse through breakfast. Lacey sat with the newspaper unfurled, answered Johnny when he spoke, watched him from a corner of her glance. He was a winning little boy, handsome, imaginative, noisy but not quarrelsome, intelligent without being irritatingly precocious. Whatever doubt and tragedy her marriage had brought, Johnny was a precious reward.
"Mrs. Van Horn?" Lacey glanced up. Johnny pointed his spoon handle at the butler. "Drink your juice, Johnny," she murmured. "What is it, Warren?"
The old, thin cheeks were pink, the faded eyes distressed. "I'm sorry to tell you, ma'am, but Dr. Mays—I believe he is a friend of yours?—he seems to be asleep out on the terrace."
Johnny's eyes rounded and brightened. "Chad?" he cried shrilly. "Oh, goody!"
Lacey's swift hand restrained him. "You have to finish your breakfast, Johnny."
"Aw..."
"You sit here and finish it, then Warren will let you come out and see Chad."

Margie Louise Dearth Weds James McMullen

Mt. Pleasant Church Scene Of Nuptials

Before an altar decorated with palms, baskets of white gladioli, fuji mums and chrysanthemums with seven branched candelabra, Miss Margie Louise Dearth and Mr. James Lincoln McMullen were married by the Rev. James Bartlett in the Mt. Pleasant Church of Kingston.

The former Miss Dearth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dearth of Kingston and Mr. McMullen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. McMullen of Wilmington.

For wedding the bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. The round, low neckline of the dress was outlined with lace rosebuds embroidered with pearls and rhinestones and the long fitted sleeves tapered to points over her hands. Matching lace motifs enhanced the plaited ruffled apron and two wide plaited ruffles circled the chapel train, which buttoned into butterfly effects for the reception. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a half hat of shirred net and lace, fashioned with pearls and rhinestones and cascade spray of shattered carnations and lily of the valley formed the bridal bouquet. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Harold Dickerscheid of Columbus was matron of honor for her sister.

Mrs. Carl H. Shanks Jr. of Kenosha, Wis., sister of the groom, Mrs. Harold Birkhold of Columbus and Miss Yvonne Drake of Laurelville were the bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of mauve blue silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with princess styled panels in front and dropped gathered waistlines to the sides and backs. The dresses featured scooped necklines, cap sleeves and full skirts worn over hoops. They wore matching picture hats and white gloves, which were gifts of the bride, and they carried French baskets of pink asters and roses complement-

4 County Girls Enter Project Of Wool Clothing

Four Pickaway County girls are cooperating with the "Make It Yourself With Wool" project sponsored by the International Wool Bureau.

This is the first year that Ohio has been included in this program, designed to promote the use of wool for clothing construction through the Ohio Wool Growers Association with Mr. Paul Getz as chairman.

The exhibit and placement contest for District 5 was held in London, August 17.

Sylvia Smith, Circleville; Nancy Cromley, Ashville; Carolyn Mowery, Mt. Sterling; and Barbara McKenzie, Circleville Route 1, modeled garments, they had constructed from woolen fabrics.

The narrator for this revue was Mary Lou Pfeiffer, director of Women's Activities for a Columbus radio station. Preceding the exhibits by the 52 girls in 3 categories of garments, Mrs. Pfeiffer presented a narrated and demonstrated lesson on "Modeling Tricks."

The state contest is August 24 during the Ohio State Fair.

Dedication Rites Honor Pickerts

A dedication service was held in the home of Mrs. Mildred E. Pickert Sunday.

Mrs. Pickert and her children just moved to their Circleville Route 4 home from California.

The ceremony was read by Mr. Ralph Elick, who is studying for the ministry.

Guests for the occasion were: The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cowen and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Elick and family, of Tarleton and Mrs. Icell Rizer of Columbus.

Those from Lancaster were: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Elick, Mr. Pearl Elick, Mrs. Albert Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Disbenett and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Elick and family.

Personals

Logan Elm Grange will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in Pickaway Township School.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Hill of S. Pickaway St. entertained the following dinner guests: Mrs. Frank Roush and grandson Michael of Doster, Mich., and Mrs. Charles Jacobs and daughters, Patricia and Nannette of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Berger Hospital Guild 20 will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rose of Circleville Route 3 at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kerns, Mrs. M. E. Maxson and Mr. Roy Wadlington attended a picnic at Lancaster.

A local woman placed among the winners in the Camera-On-Columbus competition.

In a unique project sponsored by the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 1500 photographs were studied by three nationally known judges, and a selection of one hundred prints were chosen to be enlarged for display in the Gallery.

The opening of the exhibit was August 17.

Louise Starts, manager of a local camera store, placed among the winners in the project.

The photographs were taken in a 48-hour period and were confined to a 25 mile radius of the State House.

Cleveland Browns Lose, 28-17; Defeat Provides 3 Lessons

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Cleveland Browns were beaten 28-17 and outgained on the ground and in the air by the San Francisco 49ers in their first National Football League exhibition Sunday.

The Browns learned three things in the game:

That foxy Frankie Albert, new coach of the 49ers, may be just as much future trouble for Cleveland's pro football champions in the role of coach as he was past trouble in the role of player.

That Vito (Babe) Parilli, the Browns' hope for replacing quarterback Otto Graham still needs considerable plish but is improving. He had only eight completions in 23 throws for 132 yards gained and hit for one touchdown. He made a last-quarter, 25-yard throw to Ray Renfro, as the Browns moved half the length of the field in 10 plays to score.

That rookie halfback Preston Carpenter, in the words of Coach Paul Brown, "can become an outstanding running back." The Arkansas speedster returned a punt 82 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown and gained 37 yards in four runs from scrimmage.

Aside from those two touchdowns, the only Browns' points were five minutes after the game started, and Groza's two conversions.

Making his coaching debut, Al-

Indians Hold Edge In Race For 2nd Place

CLEVELAND (AP) — A double victory over Kansas City sends the Cleveland Indians eastward tonight with a fat four-game lead in what has been a three-way scramble all month for the second position in the American League.

Getting good pitching from Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia, the Tribe Sunday won 5-2 and 2-1 to close a seven-game home stand in the black ink, with four won and three lost.

The victories also picked up a game and a half for the Indians on the league-leading New York Yankees who lost in Baltimore 3-2. The Yanks have an 8½-game lead going into Tuesday night's opener of a two-game series at New York.

Bob Lemon won the 197th victory of his 11-season pitching career with the Tribe in Sunday's opener. He gave only five hits, three of them in the first two innings.

In the second game, the Athletics outthit the Indians eight to six, but the deciding blow was Preston Ward's eighth-inning single which broke a 1-1 tie that had held from the fifth inning when each team scored.

Hector Lopez fumbled Al Smith's grounder, and Al Rosen singled him to third to set the stage for Ward's game-winning hit.

Pick Riflemen On Olympics Team

CAMP PERRY (AP) — The two small bore riflemen on the U. S. Olympic team going to Melbourne, Australia, next month will be Arthur Jackson of Silver Spring, Md. and Army Lt. Verle Wright of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Army Lt. Daniel B. Puckell of Edgewood, Md. is alternate. This trio Sunday emerged on top of a field of 170 in a three-day elimination shoot at the National Rifle and Pistol Championships at Camp Perry.

Jackson, a member of the last two Olympic rifle teams, scored 3,452 of a possible 3,600. Wright had 3,448 and Puckell 3,441.

Furgol Plays Hookey, Tops Links Tourney

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The professional golf caravan today headed for St. Paul, Minn., the next stop on the circuit — without gritty Ed Furgol, winner of Sunday's $35,000 Milwaukee Open golf tournament with a blue-chip final round of five-under-par 65.

The 39-year-old St. Louis pro, richer by $6,000 and a new station wagon after posting a 15 under-par 265 in the 72-hole medal tournament at Tripoli, said he had to get back to his teaching duties at the Westwood Country Club.

"I'm sorry I can't go to St. Paul for the Keller Open," the lame-armed Furgol said after accepting his check and the keys to the station wagon. "But, I'd better get back to Westwood. I really can't say which tournament will be my next one."

Jack Burke, of Kiamasha Lake, N. Y., who like Furgol had a 63 on the first round, finished third with a 270, one strike back of 26-year-old Gene Littler of Singing Hills, Calif. Burke took a 72, Littler a fine 66.

Bill Casper of Chula Vista, Calif., took fourth place money with a 71 and 271. Gay Brewer Jr. of Cincinnati tied Ahlens's Don January for fifth with a 71 and 274.

HELI-GOLF, or golf played with the assistance of a helicopter, is demonstrated at the Tam O'Shanter country club at Chicago by Cary Middlecoff, National Open champion, and Lloyd Mangrum, ex-National Open king. With the golf aces in the 'copter is George C. Snyder, the pilot. The idea is one flies to a green, socks the ball, enters the 'copter, flies to the next green, etc. Beats walking all hollow. # Needles Comes 5th In Chicago Derby

CHICAGO (AP) — Swoon's Son has tossed the race for 3-year-old honors into confusion following his triumph in the American Derby in which favored Needles finished fifth.

Ridden by Eddie Arcaro, the E. Gay Drake entry swept to a three-quarters length victory in the $159,425 race Saturday and picked off the winner's share of $102,600.

The Warrior finished second and Toby B. was third. Needles, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes among five major triumphs, failed in his bid for an undisputed claim to 3-year-old honors.

The D. and H. Stables star, ridden by Dave Erb, never made a serious bid. Ironically enough, Erb had his choice of Swoon's Son and Needles but chose Needles.

Janowicz Injured In Auto Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vic Janowicz, Washington Redskins halfback, may be lost to the team for a month as the result of injuries received in an auto accident, a team official said Sunday.

Janowicz, former football and baseball star at Ohio State University, suffered a severe concussion, cuts and bruises when the car in which he was riding struck a utility pole Saturday.

Redskins General Manager Dick McCann said physicians estimate Janowicz probably will be in Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital for 10 days.

Sokolsky's These Days

Of course, this forecast has proved to be true in some countries in Central and South America and it was true in Italy, Germany, Soviet Russia and other nations where personality triumphed over principle, where party mastered the people. But it has not been true in the United States where whether the President was a powerful or a weak man, no dictatorship either of party or individual asserted itself. Washington possessed the power of precedence, for he was able to foresee many dangers to his country, among them this one:

"... (Party loyalty) opens the doors to foreign influence and corruption, which find a facilitated access to the Government itself through the channels of party passions. Thus the policy and the will of one country are subjected to the policy and will of another."

Wayne Morse dealt to appear at a Democratic Convention and to denounce "Party-firsters," namely those who never think of their country but only of the advantage to their party. He did not attack Herbert Hoover, as Sam Rayburn did twice, Rayburn apparently not realizing that Herbert Hoover has not run for the Presidency since 1932. Morse dealt with the real issues that face the United States not the phony personal antagonisms which do not actually exist but are articulated only for public consumption.

Savings Stressed When Hogs Are On High Quality Pasture

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

An acre of high-quality pasture can carry 20 hogs from weaning to market, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing statements by Missouri livestock specialists.

Pasture fed hogs require about 30 per cent less grain and 50 per cent less protein supplement, according to William Pugh, University of Missouri extension livestock specialist.

Pugh reports that savings of $3 per hog can be made when hogs are on high-quality pasture. Figuring a savings of 20 bushels of grain and 600 pounds of protein supplement, approximately $60 could be saved in feed costs in getting 20 hogs to market, Pugh estimates. This could mean $60 more profit per acre on hogs.

Good pasture not only increases profits per acre, but it provides good sanitation for hogs, the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out. It cuts down on filth-borne diseases that cause big hog losses each year.

"Three factors largely determine whether your pasture stands are good, bad or indifferent," says the committee. "These are: 1—The soil's fertility level; 2—The use of well-adapted legume-grass mixtures; 3—Good grazing management."

"A well-balanced supply of plant nutrients is particularly important. When the soil is properly limed and well stocked with nitrogen, phosphate and potash, higher yields of forage as well as more protein per acre are possible."

"Well established pastures can be profitably maintained by regular applications of fertilizer in the form of top-dressings each year."

A Wisconsin soils scientist reports that a thimbleful of fertile soil can contain more than 2 1/2 billion beneficial bacteria—or a number greater than all the people on earth today.

Prof. Emil Truog, at the University of Wisconsin, says that without these beneficial bacteria, the soil would become stagnant and dead. His statement was summarized by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"These micro-organisms give life to a soil," says Truog. "They help make nutrients available to plants. They produce substances which promote a desirable granular condition in soils."

Truog points out that organic matter in the soil is the main food that nourishes these billions of micro-organisms.

Organic matter, he says, is sometimes called a "cure-all for sick soils."

"Organic matter not only promotes favorable biological conditions, but it also improves the physical condition of soils," he says. "Thus it increases the infiltration rate of water into the soil and decreases runoff and erosion. In addition, it promotes the availability of nutrient elements for crops."

"The possibility of adding more and more organic matter to the soils in the form of animal and green manures, is greatly aided by applying lime and fertilizer whenever needed. This promotes high yields of the crops which must serve as the original source of organic matter."

Three essentials for a well-balanced farming program are listed by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, based on suggestions by University of Missouri extension soils specialists.

1—The soil should be supplied with plant nutrients in proper balance and in sufficient quantities to produce high yields of quality crops.

2—Good soil tilth should provide favorable soil, water, air and temperature conditions. These conditions will encourage high-yielding growth of plants and the development of thick, healthy roots.

3—Conservation measures should protect the soil against losses from erosion.

"All the practices used in soil improvement," says the soils men "should be related to each other."

"Efficient fertilizer use must be related to the kind of land and the crop to be grown."

"Crops grown should be best suited to the individual farm's feed needs. This, in turn, depends on the kind and amount of livestock to be produced and the amount of machinery available."

The specialists point out that soil tests can give valuable information on the soil's fertility reserves. But other facts are needed before the tests can be used for practical fertilizer applications. These additional facts should include past cropping history, recent soil treatments used on the field, cultural practices, and how big an amount of corn stalks, leaves, straw, legume tops and roots and other residues are returned to the soil.

Connie Haines Has New Baby Boy

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Petite songstress Connie Haines, who normally weighs only about 100 pounds, gave birth to a 9 pound 14 1/2 ounce baby boy Sunday night.

The new arrival will be named after his father, Robert De Haven, a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force reserve employed as an executive and test pilot at Hughes Aircraft.

The baby is the couple's second child.

Mexico's fishing industry will export an estimated 20,000 tons of shrimp to the United States this year.

Banks Nearing Their Ceiling For New Loans

Business Borrowing At New High; Some Fear Further Curbs

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business borrowing today is bumping the ceiling of the banks' ability to lend. And many businessmen fear that the Washington money managers are ready to make borrowing more expensive rather than easier.

Some clamor for an easing of credit so that industry can lay hands on funds to finance its record expansion program or to carry inventories that are growing more expensive to get. They contend that tight money will discourage the industrial building boom that is a main prop under good times. Tight money is accused of slowing down home building, one of the few weak spots.

But bankers here are speculating on when and how much the Federal Reserve Board may raise the discount rate. They think it fears a runaway boom will be built on surging confidence and inflation of money and credit.

The discount rate is the interest member banks pay when they borrow from the Federal Reserve System to get funds to lend to business.

If the discount rate goes to 3 per cent in all Federal Reserve districts, commercial banks are likely to raise their prime rate to 4 per cent at once. The prime rate is the interest that the top name business firms pay to borrow from the banks. Most business have to pay more than the prime rate.

To discourage borrowing to speed up the business boom, the Federal Reserve already has raised the discount rate five times in the last 17 months.

Other interest charges have started up again. Yields are up on government bonds. New corporate bond issues command higher interest—and in some cases in recent days corporations have withdrawn new issues because investors demanded a higher return than the would-be borrower wanted to pay.

Took Everything But Kitchen Sink

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Thieves left the kitchen sink in a home owned by Mrs. William O'Sullivan, but not much else.

Police reported someone stole all the inside doors, furniture, hot water tank, east iron porch railings, a $1,700 heating unit and built-in bathtub.

Young Actress Has Trouble Proving She Is Not A Boy

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Take a good look at Dani Crayne and believe, if you dare, that this luscious actress ever has trouble convincing some people she isn't a boy.

In a town built on problems, Dani has one of the most unique yet.

Her trouble: The sound of that first name. It's pronounced the same as the masculine Danny. She often gets bills and other mail addressed to: Mr. Danny Crayne, Warner Bros. studio.

Even I once believed that Dani was an actor, not an actress. When she was under contract to Universal-International, a publicity man suggested an interview with Dani Crayne. Before he could describe her over the phone, I gave him a quick no and steered the conversation to Esther Williams, Jeanne Crain and others of that lovely ilk.

When I finally met Dani, I was ready to forfeit my card in the girl watchers society of Hollywood.

She is about as much boy as Marilyn Monroe.

But her problem is a serious one, so serious that Warners wants to change her first name to Diana. She's reluctant.

"I think my only problem," she argues, "is to get enough people to see me. Then I could be called Irving and I don't think it would hurt."

She also argues that there has been quite a bit of exposure of the name, Dani Crayne. At U-I, she had good roles in several pictures, including the unreleased "Un-guarded Moment," in which she plays the second female lead in Miss Williams' first dry land picture since she swam away from Metro.

Possessing a figure that has more curves than are tossed in the New York Yankees' bullpen, Dani also was a cheesecake favorite at U-I. Those photos exposed more than her name.

Japanese Coming Home From USSR

MAIZURU, Japan (AP)—The Japanese repatriation ship Koan Maru returned Sunday with 115 Japanese repatriates from the Soviet Union. She sailed again today for Tangku, Communist China to bring back 354 more.

Repatriation officials said this may be the ship's last mission to Red China.

Heads Labor Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic National Committee Sunday announced the appointment of John S. Johns, Canton, Ohio, as chairman for Ohio labor activities in the fall campaign. Johns is a district representative of the United Steelworkers of America.

Bonus Endorsed

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio American Legion executive committee Sunday endorsed a state bonus measure for Korean veterans. The measure was placed on the Nov. 6 general election ballot by the last General Assembly.

Socialists Select Ex-Trucker For Presidential Bid

NEW YORK (AP)—The Socialist Workers' party has again nominated Farrell Dobbs as its candidate for president and Mrs. Myra Tanner Weiss for vice president.

Dobbs, a former truck driver, and Mrs. Weiss, a onetime canner worker, headed the party's ticket in 1952. Dobbs also ran for president in 1948.

The two were on the ballots in seven states in 1952. They polled 10,306 votes.

Thirty delegates from 12 states selected Dobbs and Mrs. Weiss at the party's convention Sunday night.

In his acceptance speech, Dobbs said the Republican and Democratic parties are "the twin parasites of American big business."

Youth Sent For Help; He's Lost

PECOS, N.M. (AP)—Search parties today combed the rain-soaked Pecos hills and streams for an 11-year-old Santa Fe boy who vanished Saturday while seeking aid for a blind companion.

Bobby Martinez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Martinez of Santa Fe, hasn't been heard of since 2 p.m. Saturday when he and a companion, Albert Gonzales, blind Santa Fe attorney, were caught by a rain storm.

They took refuge under a tree, and Bobby volunteered to run back to the ranch where his parents were staying to obtain transportation for Gonzales. He never reached the ranch.

Gonzales was found and taken to the ranch later.

MANILA (AP)—Two Philippine Air Force Mustangs collided in flight south of Manila today. The Philippines News Service said both pilots were killed.

Filmland Pair Injured, Say Photog Pushed

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—

Actress Diana Dors and her husband, Dennis Hamilton, were nursing injuries today along with a photographer they say pushed them into their swimming pool during a gay housewarming.

The British couple went into the water at the shallow end of the pool Sunday night along with two male guests. All were fully clothed.

The other two in the dunked quartet were Miss Dors' agent, Louis Schurr, and her dress designer, Howard Shoup.

The photographer, Stuart Sawyer, 32, of the United Press, was slugged in a fight that followed. Hamilton admitted striking Sawyer, who later flatly denied pushing anyone.

Miss Dors complained of a sore back and was put to bed. Her physician said she received "numerous bruises and abrasions."

Hamilton's hand also was hurt and x-rays were to be taken to determine if he broke it.

Sawyer suffered a possible broken nose, facial lacerations and bruises on the face, head and ribs, a physician reported.

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—An Albuquerque man Clyde Shye, 20, staggered off the streets into police headquarters Sunday night, insisting he had been in the jail four days and demanded his freedom. Officers hadn't seen him before, but expect to get to know him better. He was charged with drunkenness.

Hamilton later said he held no grudge against the photographer. Sawyer denied pushing the quartet into the water, adding: "I don't remember anything until I woke up in a car."

Crash Injuries Prove Fatal To Frank Geib

Former CHS Athlete Dies Of Pneumonia In Fremont Hospital

Frank (Junior) Geib of Fremont, former Circleville High School athletic star, died Sunday in Memorial Hospital at Fremont as a result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident last July 23.

Geib, 32, was a son of former Herald Editor Glen Geib, who is now editor of the Fremont News-Messenger and president of the Associated Press Society of Ohio.

Having apparently recovered sufficiently from his injuries, Frank Geib was released from the hospital August 9, but he was readmitted four days later for treatment of pneumonia, a complication resulting from the accident injuries.

The deceased was a civil engineer and a graduate of Ohio State University. He was best known in this district however for his sensational play on the gridiron and basketball court at Circleville High.

THE ACCIDENT which resulted in the fatal injuries occurred while Geib was driving to Fremont from Findlay. He apparently fell asleep at the wheel and his car swerved off the highway, striking a concrete abutment.

Geib is survived by his wife, the former Elmina Morrison of Circleville.

Also among the survivors are his mother; a daughter, Nancy; a son, Michael; a brother, Gene; and a sister, Mary Ellen.

Funeral services will be held at the Kneel Funeral Home in Fremont at 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Phone Strike Talks Slated To Resume

PORTSMOUTH — Negotiations seeking to end a strike of 600 employees of the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. were to resume here today.

A spokesman said Edward Phillips of Columbus, federal mediator, would hold separate sessions with representatives of the company and the Communications Workers of America.

If there is progress, he then will hold a joint meeting with the two groups.

The strike, affecting exchanges in parts of 24 southern and eastern Ohio counties, started more than a month ago and has been marked by violence. Union officials have denied responsibility for the violence.

Several exchanges have been closed but one at Sciotoville, closed last Thursday, was reopened Saturday and began serving 2,400 patrons.

Crash Kills Five In Ohio Family

CAMDEN, S. C. — An auto crashed into a bridge Sunday, killing all five members of a North Olmstead, Ohio, family.

Officers identified the victims as Robert Gray, his wife and their three children, Douglas, 13, Carry, 8, and Sue, 6.

Authorities said Mrs. Gray apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The victims died in flames when the car caught fire after the crash 12 miles north of here on U. S. 521.

The family was en route to St. Petersburg, Fla., to visit Mrs. Gray's mother.

Republicans Seek Support Of Labor

Platform Cites Prosperous Times; No Dispute Seen On Civil Rights

SAN FRANCISCO — Republican platform writers today pitched for the labor vote this fall by pointing to record employment and saying that "the American wage earner . . . can buy more than ever before . . ."

Framing a tentative plank expected to be approved by the GOP national convention Tuesday they declared:

"The Eisenhower administration has brought to our people the highest employment, the highest wages and the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any nation."

They also charged that a Democratic-controlled Congress blocked "needed changes" in the Taft-Hartley Labor-Management Act, and various administration-sponsored proposals in the health-welfare field.

Meanwhile, the 105-member drafting committee, after four hours of debate, approved early today a civil rights plank its chairman said would help the GOP in both the North and the South.

SOUTHERN MEMBERS intimated they were not so sure of Sen. Prescott Bush's optimism. But there was no indication the Dixie delegates would take the issue to the floor of the national convention opening today.

The wording of the plank was not made public, but it was understood to say the party "accepts" the Supreme Court decision barring racial segregation in the public schools as the law of the land.

It approves the civil rights recommendations of President Eisenhower, specifically mentioning proposals for a civil rights commission and to give the Department of Justice a new civil rights division.

Bush, of Connecticut, described the conclusions on civil rights as "very harmonious" and couched in language reflecting Eisenhower's views "very faithfully."

He also said the plank was stronger than that of the Democrats.

Was the South satisfied? "No, not me," said Joe Parsons, chairman of the Virginia delegation. Then he added: "It (the plank) isn't so bad."

OTHER SOUTHERN delegates said the GOP document was one they could live with.

Asked if the Republicans now were in a position to criticize the Democrats on the civil rights issue, Bush said, "We are in a position to say our plank is better."

He added Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, an advocate of a strong plank, "gave some ground" but still achieved language which will be "more helpful in Chicago" than to the Democratic opposition. Dirksen is a candidate for re-election.

Riesel Sees Link In New Slaying

Blinded Columnist Notes Trucker Death

NEW YORK — Labor columnist Victor Riesel says the slaying of a truck driver Saturday is another link in a chain of underworld murders that have followed his blinding by acid.

The murders are "indicative of a terrific gang war which is just beginning in New York and will soon spread across the nation," Riesel said in a brief television appearance Sunday night.

Riesel, blinded by an acid-flinging hoodlum April 5, referred to the killing Saturday of Fred Mischner, 26. The truck driver was found with four bullets in his body in a hallway of a lower East Side tenement.

Police said, however, that there is "no definite association at this time" between Mischner's death and the slaying of Abraham Telvi, 22, last month.

The FBI has said Telvi was the man who tossed the acid at Riesel for a $1,000 fee.

TWO EX-CONVICTS were found dead in a parked automobile the same day Telvi's body was discovered. The two were wrapped in canvas and trussed with rope.

The FBI said the two knew "too much" about Telvi. They theorized that Telvi himself was slain by the underworld because some of the acid had splashed on his face and left him a marked man.

Still at large is the mastermind who engineered the wanton attack on the crusading, 41-year-old syndicated newspaper columnist. The FBI said the attack was ordered to prevent Riesel from telling a grand jury about labor racketeering.

Seven persons are under arrest in connection with the acid attack—five as material witnesses and two on charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice.

In his TV appearance Sunday night, Riesel said the murders are a "disciplinary action" on the part of underworld bosses.

"The is most terrifically organized crime," said the columnist. "Hitting me was only a symbol that the men in crime, who make organized crime big business, will stop at nothing to get rid of their accusers."

Colleges Raising Fund For Olympics

DENVER — The NCAA Olympic committee says $326,102.47 has been raised by member colleges and universities for the U. S. Olympic fund.

The fund will be used to help train, equip and send to Australia this nation's Olympic Games representatives.

The fund's goal is $500,000. The money is contributed by spectators at athletic contests staged by member schools.

Surkont To Giants

NEW YORK — The New York Giants today purchased Max Surkont, veteran right-handed pitcher, from the San Francisco Seals of the Pacific Coast League. Surkont will report to the Giants in Milwaukee tonight.

Dudley J. Carpenter has been promoted to the top position at the local branch of John W. Eshelman and Sons. As general manager of the firm's Circleville mill, he will succeed Herbert R. Eshelman Jr., who has been transferred to duties at the company's headquarters office in Lancaster, Pa. Carpenter has been associated with the Eshelman firm since the Circleville plant was opened more than a quarter-century ago. Within the past year, he has also become a prominent figure in Circleville's municipal life as a member of city council. He will take over his new duties at the Eshelman mill September 1. ## States Righters Thump Drums But There's Much Disinterest

NEW ORLEANS, La. — The Louisiana States Rights party has endorsed former Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews as its presidential nominee. State Chairman Robert G. Chandler of Shreveport said, however, the selection of a nominee is subject to the will of a national States Rights convention, which the Louisiana group has scheduled in three weeks.

Chandler said his group is negotiating with several other southern states to call a presidential nominating convention. He did not name the states or predict when a convention would be held.

News Briefs

MOWCOW — Pravda said today the outlawed Communist party in West Germany will continue to fight—presumably underground—for "a radiant new future for the German nation."

BERLIN — A sign of changing Communist times: East Germany's first state-run shop renting men's evening clothes was opened in East Berlin today. In the old Stalinist days, East German Communists followed the example of their Soviet comrades and did their best to avoid being well dressed.

LONDON — Moscow radio said today the Soviet Ministry of Light Industries has decided to speed up clothing production by "gluing the seams of clothing together instead of sewing them." The broadcast gave no details of the glue to be used.

DAMASCUS, Syria — Syria and Turkey have withdrawn their regular armed forces along the Turkish-Syrian border to ease tension, an Interior Ministry spokesman said today.

DAMASCUS, Syria — A cabinet minister says this country, Egypt and Saudi Arabia will help pay for equipping the Jordan national guard for defense against Israel.

No Settlement Yet Of Suez Dispute, But Threat Fading

LONDON — The 22-nation Suez conference reached a show-down stage today with Egypt and the West still miles apart. But some delegates said the danger of a shooting war is fading.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon drew up a climactic compromise bid with the hope of bringing the West and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser together.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles met with Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov, presumably to fill him in on the West's firm stand for Dulles' proposal of an international authority to operate the canal.

This Egypt has already rejected.

There were indications the document which would emerge from the conference would contain a variety of viewpoints but with a majority of the delegates supporting the Dulles plan.

WHATEVER THE immediate outcome of the conference, one high Western official said he is convinced military action in the Mediterranean is now remote. He said Prime Minister Anthony Eden is now thinking in terms of moral rather than military persuasion.

Menon, it was reported, has been unable to sell his compromise plan completely to either side. Menon's compromise plan calls for a two-tier system of managing the canal. At the top would be an Egyptian directorate and underneath an international body, including foreign users of the canal.

While the Egyptian directorate would have the final word of operation of the canal, it would be bound to seek advice of the international group on such questions as development and financing.

Fifteen countries were reported lined up behind the plan Dulles was to introduce.

The new rejection of Dulles' proposal was made by Ali Sabry, President Nasser's top political aide who is in London observing the 22-nation conference from the sidelines. Egypt declined to attend the conference.

Stevenson Plans Whistlestop Drive

Truman, Kefauver Participation Outlined In Libertyville Confab

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. — Adlai Stevenson gave enthusiastic approval today to an airplane and "whistlestop" train campaign embracing virtually every key state in the country.

He booked time Sept. 13 for a 30-minute, nationwide television address in a drive that will continue without letup until the eve of the election.

And it will cover full participation by former President Harry S. Truman and Sen. Estes Kefauver, Stevenson's vice presidential running mate.

Campaigning will be concentrated in states where Democratic prospects for victory appear brightest.

The conferees, at a dinner Sunday night in Stevenson's home, rejected any idea of the campaigner's making President Eisenhower's health an issue.

"The average American rebels at the thought of a man's illness becoming a focal point in a campaign," reporters were told by James A. Finnegan, Philadelphia, Stevenson's campaign manager. "You don't thrust a man's illness in his face. The health question is one for the American people to consider for themselves."

FINNEGAN SAID Stevenson's headquarters will be moved to Washington "as quickly as possible" and his entire campaign against Eisenhower will be directed from there in coordination with the national committee.

"But don't expect Gov. Stevenson to spend much time in Washington," he added. "He'll be out on the stump from the time the campaign starts."

Finnegan said he hoped that Truman's services, like those of

Hodge Says He Needed Money For Expenses

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Orville Hodge took the witness stand Monday in Sangamon County Circuit Court and gave his version of the 1½ million dollar state check cashing swindle.

State's Atty. George P. Couttrak, seeking a stiff state sentence against the former state auditor, called upon Hodge to tell why he diverted huge amounts of state money. Hodge has pleaded guilty.

Hodge, coughing and gagging during the hearing, was questioned for two hours before court recessed until 1:30 p. m.

Couttrak said he had four or five more witnesses to call this afternoon in advance of Hodge's sentencing.

"I took the money because I wanted to make investments, and I needed it for political purposes," Hodge testified, "and my expenses were heavy."

He said he believes that he began to use state funds in April, 1954.

Hodge, who pleaded guilty to state charges of embezzlement, forgery and confidence game a week ago, has spent most of the time since then in a hospital. Doctors said he was suffering from a nervous disorder.

Wednesday, he was taken from the hospital to Chicago and sentenced by U. S. Dist. Judge John P. Barnes to 10 years imprisonment for misapplying $872,000 in federally-insured bank funds.

Another 10 years' sentence was held open to suspension following completion of arrangements for restitution to the state by Hodge.

Picketing Is Brief At Bell Building

CLEVELAND — For a brief period today pickets appeared at the main building of Ohio Bell Telephone Co., while negotiators in New York were attempting to reach an agreement with Western Electric Co.

Less than two hours later Christy P. Nicholas, area representative of the Communications Workers Union, said he received word from the union's headquarters to withdraw the picket line because progress was being made in the negotiations.

There was no effect on the operations of Ohio Bell.

Western Electric installers, working mainly in Ohio Bell buildings, number about 300 in this area.

Kefauver, "can be utilized to their full capacity all the way down the line."

Truman, who made a bitter fight for Averell Harriman in a block-Stevenson drive that got nowhere at last week's Democratic national convention, has signified his willingness to fight even harder against the Republicans.

Finnegan said he would seek Truman's "advice and counsel." He foresaw no difference between Stevenson and Kefauver over campaign strategy and said he knew they will "be working in concert."

And he added that he and Chairman Paul Butler of the Democratic National Committee will reach "solid agreement on every aspect of the campaign."

Speaking engagements will be announced as fast as they are finalized.

Ohio Delegates Backing Nixon

Vote Unanimously During Caucus

SAN FRANCISCO — The Ohio delegation to the Republican convention voted unanimously today to cast its 56 votes for the renomination of Vice President Nixon.

The action was taken at the delegation's first caucus—a closed-door meeting at the Sheraton-Palace Hotel, Ohio headquarters.

Ray C. Bliss, chairman of the delegation, told newsmen the motion to back Nixon was offered by Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Ohio's Republican national committeeman.

Mrs. Katherine K. Brown, the state's national committeewoman, seconded the motion. Sen. Bricker urged support for Nixon.

Sen. Bender moved that the nominations be closed and the motion endorsing Nixon was carried unanimously.

BRICKER, IN talking with newsmen after the caucus noted that Nixon has roots in Ohio as his grandparents came from the state and his father was once a streetcar conductor in Ohio.

In answer to questions Bricker said he would be happy to make a speech seconding Nixon's nomination but that nothing definite along that line had been arranged.

Bliss said both he and Bricker had been informed Nixon would campaign in Ohio this fall. Bliss also said that he has "reason to believe" President Eisenhower will make a talk in the state.

The delegation's caucus was cut short so that the members could get out of the Cow Palace in time for the opening session of the convention.

Bliss said he had called another conference for Wednesday morning.

Unionization Of Teachers Sought

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers Monday asked delegates to the 40th anniversary convention to adopt a program to end what he called "teacher futility and educational mediocrity" in public schools.

Carl J. Megel of Chicago, in an address at the convention's opening session, told some 700 delegates that the A. F. of T. must work for "recognition by school boards of the right of teachers everywhere to organize, negotiate and bargain collectively."

Megel also called for a "single salary schedule for teachers starting with $5,000 a year at the bachelor's level, and reaching $9,000 in eight or less annual steps, as well as an added pay spread for training and experience."

Shot To Death

CLEVELAND — Stanford Lowery, 49, of Cleveland was shot to death today as the result of an argument with a 51-year-old woman.

Ex-Professor Dies

DELAWARE — Paul Huser, 69, emeritus associate professor of French at Ohio Wesleyan University, died in a hospital here Sunday night after a long illness.

Big GOP Party Pageant Opening In Cow Palace

His Vice President Drive Leaves Stassen 'Loneliest Man'

COW PALACE, SAN FRANCISCO — Republicans, untroubled by any major problems, plunged confidently today into a pageant-convention pitched to blunt Democratic attacks and win votes for reelection of an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

Any earlier doubts in the minds of delegates that Richard M. Nixon would again be the running mate for President Eisenhower had been pretty well removed by opening time of the party convention.

Harold E. Stassen had got no where with his weekend plugging here for delegates to join his "dumb" Nixon crusade. He was about the loneliest man in town.

And word to associates of Nixon was that Eisenhower would leave the track clear to him by taking no action, publicly or privately, to tab any list of others as equally acceptable to him.

Delegates saw, on coming into this hall, big 10-20-foot pictures of Eisenhower and Nixon at one end.

THE NEAREST thing to a disagreement to crop up in the pre-convention preparations was some argument over a civil rights plank in the platform.

This was wrapped up early today with committee approval of a plank which—as happened with the Democrats—was not all what either side of the argument wanted, but seemed acceptable to both.

The wording was not immediately made public but was reported to say the party "accepts" as law of the land the Supreme Court's pronouncement that racial segregation in public schools is unconstitutional.

Further, it was understood to approve the civil rights proposals submitted to Congress by President Eisenhower.

Sen. Prescott Bush of Connecticut, chairman of the drafting committee, told newsmen he thought the plank was stronger than the Democrats' plank.

BY TONING down an earlier draft described as stronger, the GOP hoped to help Eisenhower repeat his 1952 feat of taking four southern states and also improve their bids to pick up congressional gains in border states.

In the absence of any real struggle over men or issues, the convention atmosphere took on somewhat that of a society wedding.

The principals were known in advance. So were the ceremonies. Nobody anticipated any surprises. Everybody was confident of a happy future.

Stassen had pinned his drive to replace Nixon on a hope that Eisenhower would let it be known before the convention's balloting session Wednesday that some others would be equally suitable as a vice presidential nominee.

Stassen, on leave of absence as Eisenhower's disarmament assistant, has been plugging for re-

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"TOUPEE FOR ELVIS PRESLEY"

Mrs. Schwine insisted that I use this Droodle and although she didn't actually twist my arm, she had a judo hold on my neck, so what could I do. Every time some new show business personality comes along she flips her lid and we have to put up with it until the craze wears off. When Charles Boyer came to America she started talking with a French accent. During the Fatty Arbuckle rage she took off a few pounds. For George Gobel she got a crew hair cut. For Liberace she had her teeth straightened. And now, for Elvis, she's going to let her sideburns grow. But, personally, I don't think it's a good idea. They'll clash with her Groucho Marx mustache.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press
News Analyst

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Democratic and Republican platforms—those promises of what they'll do if the voters elect them—are a combination of good intentions and plain political bunk.

The prime example: Their planks on foreign policy. The rarest thing in a political platform is a new idea. You won't find a single one in the two parties' foreign policy planks if you search them from end to end.

With perhaps one main exception—arms for Israel—you will find no real differences between the parties' foreign policies.

From 1933 to 1953, while they ran the show, the Democrats put together a number of basic foreign policies and programs. The Republicans took them over lock, stock and barrel when they were elected four years ago.

So the differences between Democrats and Republicans are on how the policies and programs, now the property of both parties, are being handled. The Democrats say they could do it better, the Republicans say they're doing fine.

For example: Both Democratic and Republican foreign policy planks pledge the two parties to continue foreign aid, to help underdeveloped countries, to rely on collective security against Communist aggression, to support the U.N., to back Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese on Formosa, to oppose a seat for Red China in U.N., to continue to seek the freedom of Americans held prisoner by the Red Chinese, to work for the unity of Western Europe, to preserve peace in the Middle East, to intensify cooperation with Latin America.

The Republicans refrain—in saying they will try to keep peace in the Middle East—from saying they will give arms to Israel. The Democrats pledge themselves to help arm the Israelis.

The bunk in the two foreign policy planks is dished out in big chunks.

The Democrats, blasting the Republicans' handling of foreign affairs, find nothing good to say about President Eisenhower's performance. And they omit any mention of this fact: That fear of war between the United States and Russia has receded greatly under Eisenhower and since his meeting with the Russians.

But the Republicans, apparently hoping that voters are not too familiar with the details of foreign affairs, shovel out bunk of their own.

They claim "international communism" has shown "hesitation both at home and abroad." That's bunk. The Russians have become economically aggressive since they began talking more peacefully.

They have the administration concerned by their offers of aid to backward countries, by their growing influence in the Middle East. The administration has found no new way to cope with them. It's relying on the tried remedies: Foreign aid and big loans.

The Republicans talk, as if with pride, about the liberation of Austria from occupation rule and the fact she is independent. The Eisenhower administration didn't bring that about.

Austria became free and independent only because the Russians—decided to withdraw their troops. The Democrats had been trying to get the Russians to do that. The Eisenhower administration simply adopted the same policy and finally the Russians withdrew.

Again the Republicans speak as if with pride about the condition of Viet Nam in Indochina which, the Republican plank says, is "now free and independent."

But what the plank carefully omits saying is this: Since the Eisenhower administration took over, the Indochinese Communists forced the French—while the United States looked on helplessly—to split Viet Nam in half. They hold the northern part.

Stab Wound Fatal To Cincinnati Man

CINCINNATI (AP)—Delmar Lovett, 40, died Sunday at General Hospital of a stab wound suffered Saturday night at the home of a friend, Delbert R. Troxel, 36.

Police said Troxel told them he stabbed Lovett when the victim tried to enter his home without permission. No charge was filed against Troxel.

Cincinnati Solon Is Hospitalized

CINCINNATI (AP)—Rep. Gordon S. Scherer (R-Ohio) was in "favorable" condition at Deaconess Hospital here last night after sustaining a severe abdominal pain earlier in the day.

Hospital attendants said he was resting comfortably with sedatives after tests. Police in nearby Elmwood Place took the congressman to the hospital after the pain became so severe that he could not drive.

Strike Averted

AKRON (AP)—A strike threat at Goodyear Aircraft Corp. was averted Sunday when 4,500 workers voted to accept a two-year contract. The agreement follows the pattern set in recent contracts between the United Rubber Workers and the major rubber companies. It provides a layoff pay plan and hourly wage boosts of 6.2 cents.

Waving Lotion Used By Girl On Cow's Tail

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The maker of the home-permanent kit probably didn't have Antonia in mind, but some of his product has given the Guernsey cow a wavy tail.

Antonia is getting all dolled up for the Ohio State Fair Aug. 24-31. Her owner, 4-H Clubber Pauline McKittrick of nearby Dublin, doused the end of Antonia's tail with waving lotion and wrapped it in curlers.

Last year, 16-year-old Pauline was junior fair champion in the Guernsey showmanship class against all 4- and FFA competitors. The year before she showed the reserve grand champion in the Brown Swiss breed. She also has appeared in the ring at the Water-

This Is What District Vets Want To Know

(Veterans who have a question of interest to ex-servicemen should pass it along to Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer Jim Shea, of the Courthouse in Circleville.)

Q—Are Officers in the Public Health Service, and attached to the Coast Guard eligible for veterans benefits?

A—I had to look this one up in my VA Regulations, and according to VA Regulation 1001 Par E, Officers of the Public Health Service who were detailed for duty with the Army or Navy (which includes Coast Guard) are included as officers in active service. This paragraph E is a very lengthy paragraph, but to me, it means but one thing, and that is that officers in the Public Health Service are eligible for benefits, the same as officers in one of the other services.

Q—How soon after my discharge must I file for out-patient dental treatment?

A—You must file for out-patient dental treatment within one year after your discharge. If you wait beyond this year, even though you have service-connected teeth, the claim will not be allowed.

Q—I understand the VA is reviewing all service-connected cases to find out if they are all rated correctly. Is this correct?

A—Yes that is correct. In 1954, the VA started to review 1,713,000 cases of veterans who are drawing service connected compensation, and veterans under the age of 55 who are receiving total non service-connected pensions. To date, they have reviewed 503,400 cases, and 95 percent of these were considered as sound and needed no adjustment.

Q—What ever happened to that law which would allow veterans that reached the age of 65 to be eligible for a pension provided their income was not too great?

A—It was shelved—no action was taken on it in the upper house. As we all know, the lower house passed it, and sent it up for final passage. Let's hope that when Congress meets again, someone will dust this bill off and try to get it passed.

Q—When is the deadline date for making application for a GI Loan for a World War II vet?

A—I have good news on this one. Congress has passed a law allowing the deadline date, which was originally July 25, 1957 to be extended to July 25, 1958, and also allowing all applications that are in the process of being completed on that date to be completed.

Bakery Struck

AKRON (AP)—A machinists union strike closed the Continental Baking Co. plant here Sunday when bakery workers union members refused to cross picket lines. Both unions, with a total membership of 106, are seeking 30-cent hourly wage increases on average pay of $2 an hour and have been in negotiations since May 1.

Named By Dems

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Helen Guntsett of Van Wert, Ohio, has been named as the new Democratic national committeewoman from Ohio. Her appointment was announced Saturday along with the reappointment of Albert A. Hortsmann of Dayton as Ohio's national committeeman.

'Blown From Bed' By Lightning Bolt

CINCINNATI (AP)—A lightning bolt plunged through the roof of a home in suburban Greenhills Sunday and burned the bed of Earl Scheve while he slept. But his only injuries were "a couple of tiny burns" on his back. Scheve's wife said she thought her husband had been killed. "Then I saw him standing up. He must have been blown out of bed, he doesn't know what happened. But I never saw anybody get out of bed so fast."

FIVE months or FIVE dollars?

Even with hospitalization or insurance, time spent being sick still costs you money! In the past it often meant long periods of recuperation and absence from work with loss of income.

Luckily today these expenses can be largely avoided thanks to the effectiveness of modern miracle drugs. The wonderful curative powers of the antibiotics, the sulfas and other present-day medicines have practically eliminated the long periods of recovery for many illnesses. When you realize this, the few dollars that your prescription costs are indeed a bargain.

PUZZLING PRELUDE

IN A WORLD jumpy about any incident that could lead to war, the calmness that has met news of the invasion of Burma by the Chinese Communists has been unusual.

It may be because world attention is focused on the Suez Canal nationalization by Egypt's President Nasser.

Also, there apparently has long been border confusion in the areas the Chinese reds reportedly are invading and occupying. For a long time Nationalist Chinese roamed these areas after they were thrust out of China.

The low-pressure reaction from the Western powers should surprise no one because Burma has consistently maintained an extreme "neutralist" position, refusing to say anything critical of the communists, let alone join any defensive alliance against them. The West now can afford the attitude of letting the Burmese stew in their own juice.

Whether this attitude will continue if the reds try to occupy all of this rich rice-growing region remains to be seen.

The most interesting question of all is why the communists chose this time to invade. The international experts have been predicting that as soon as the American November elections are out of the way a strong effort will be launched to seat Red China in the United Nations.

The United States is expected to resist this strongly. In the past American representatives in the UN have insisted that Red China shouldn't be allowed to "shoot her way into the United Nations."

The current invasion of Burma, no matter how limited, will only strengthen the hand of the United States and other nations opposing Red China's entry. It is a puzzling prelude to the communists' announced goal.

JAIL FOR TIP TAX DODGERS

HOW TOURISTS get taken was never more graphically illustrated than in the case of the head waiter of a New York hotel, who copped a plea of guilty to income tax evasion charges. His income in less than two years was $60,000, mostly from tips. His salary was $3,000 a year.

Nor is this an isolated case. His predecessor was sentenced to four months in jail on similar charges. His income was approximately the same.

Some persons will ask, why do travelers tip so outrageously? In many instances their lives are made miserable if they try to resist the gouge. For some years many tourists sought to circumvent what they regarded as a holdup by patronizing tourist cabins.

But the tourist cabin is going the way of the dodo. More and more new ones are being built—now called motels—with swimming pools, door men, and who knows what. It pleases many travelers, however, to read that some of the tip tycoons are being sent to jail.

Tourists from the states visiting Canada this Summer will set a new record, it is reported from Ottawa. Evidently "See America First" is becoming more than a slogan.

These Days

Wayne Morse, former Republican, now a Democrat, really belongs to no party because he is an intense individualist who calls himself a Constitutional Liberal. His speech at the Democratic Convention was, in a sense, out of place because it was too elevated, too literate, too considered, too philosophic for his audience who applauded at the wrong time and, as the television demonstrated, paid little heed to him. I telephoned to a delegate to discuss Morse's speech; he told me the noise was so distressing that where he sat not a word could be heard.

Wayne Morse was used on the program to help him win his Senatorial seat in Oregon despite his violation of American tradition against mugwumpism. This must have been true about all those Senatorial candidates who read planks of the platform while caucuses were being held, on the floor. Radio and television reduces the delegates to sweating robots; the speeches are made for the television audience.

Morse did two things in his speech: he attacked the entire position of the Southern Democrats by denying the right of the Southern states to place any restrictions upon specific American citizens, namely, Negroes. This he did at a Democratic Convention where he appeared for the first time. Secondly, he spoke up for Federal aid to education which would be popular among Democrats, but his insistence upon using off-shore oil for education is not so popular among Texans, for instance.

It was a courageous thing to do, but the reason that Morse could deliver his particular type of address, which over the next four years will have a greater influence upon the course of events than many other events at Chicago, is that he does not regard himself as a Republican or a Democrat but as a Constitutional Liberal which is traditional Americanism. He may find several Republicans who hold to the same position.

It is interesting historically that Wayne Morse's conception of American political life was George Washington's who, in his Farewell Address, said:

"I have already intimated to you the danger of parties in the State, with particular reference to the founding of them on geographical discrimination. Let me now take a more comprehensive view, and warn you in the most solemn manner against the baneful effects of the spirit of party, generally.

"This spirit, unfortunately, is inseparable from our nature, having its root in the strongest passions of the human mind. It exists under different shapes in all governments, more or less stifled, controlled, or repressed; but in those of the popular form it is seen in its greatest rankness, and is truly their worst enemy."

Washington regarded the political party as leading to despotism. He said: "... The disorders and miseries which result gradually incline the minds of men to seek security and repose in the absolute power of an individual; and sooner or later the chief of some prevailing faction, more able or more fortunate than his competitors, turns this disposition to the purposes of his own elevation, on the ruins of public liberty."

When And How To Use Packs And Compresses

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

DURING family illnesses—and you know how often they occur—a homemaker frequently must substitute as a nurse.

For certain minor ailments she usually can act on her own. For more serious disorders, she'll have to follow the advice of the family physician.

Helpful aids in treating many discomforts are simple applications of heat or cold or a medication to a particular portion of the body or to the entire body.

Do You Know?

If your doctor should recommend a hot or cold pack or a poultice for a patient in your home, would you know what to do?

Every homemaker should be acquainted with a few fundamentals such as how to apply moist heat. The purpose of a moist hot application is to ease pain, supply moisture and to promote muscle relaxation, circulation and drainage of a wound.

It can be given either by applying hot compresses to the affected area or by soaking the area in an easily made solution. Generally, your doctor will recommend one of the following solutions:

Three per cent boric acid, or three to six per cent magnesium sulfate, or .09 per cent isotonic salt, mixed with water.

The temperature of the solutions when they are applied should be about 120 degrees. You can keep them warm by frequently adding small amounts of hot solution.

As for compresses which may contain any one of several medicinal substances, you can use towels, flannel, gauze or cotton. For certain cases, one may be better than the others.

Warm and Moist

Keep these moist compresses warm by placing a hot water bag on top. Or, you can keep them warm and moist, too, by wrapping the entire area in cellophane or oilskin.

When using compresses or solutions on an open wound, remember they must be sterile. Usually, it's a good idea to interrupt these soaks or applications occasionally to prevent the skin from becoming waterlogged.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

R. B.: I am 41 and my nose is becoming gradually larger. It is forming lumps and looks somewhat purplish. What can I do for it?

Answer: From your description you are suffering from rhinophyma of the nose, which is due to a disorder of the oil glands of the nose. Usually a plastic surgeon can clear up this disease.

By WILLIAM RITT

You could tell the Democratic convention was wide open. Some delegates couldn't find where they sat and others couldn't find where they stood.

With the Republicans things are different. It's all for one and one for Herter.

As far as the TV audience is concerned, the Republican convention amounts to an anti-climax. Like an old revival after a whodunnit.

The Chicago stockyards district was the right place. That's where they heard beefs.

The Democrats call Chicago their "lucky city." It's also called the Windy City.

It comes to mind what little attention the public pays to party platforms. Never have so many said so much to so few.

CHAPTER 25

CHAD did not believe Hazel Barr's story, but she had said enough to disturb him. Like the tiny, barbed needles of a household cactus plant, her charge and her implications got under the skin, itched a bit, then pricked and then hurt. Logic said there was no connection between Wilkins-Smith's attack upon the clinic, the evidence he had acquired to back up his attack, and the fact that Lacey Van Horn was a widow. Widowed in a fashion that "no one spoke of." Except Miss Barr.

Lacey would not deceive a man; certainly she would not bring him to his death by any involved trickery. Just as surely she would not steal or "wangle" the means to destroy her mother's pet project, and discredit Chad; she wouldn't do any of those things for any purpose! Chad knew that! But even in making that mental declaration, he linked the two things; there was some connection, actually, somewhere.

Dr. Van Horn, four years dead, and Wilkins-Smith, whom Chad had never met. . . .

He could not pass off the connection between those two men as coincidental! He must think the thing through, sensibly and logically.

He left the clinic by the rear door, struck off through the park and then along the streets of Burbank. He went along a tree-bordered highway, climbed one fence, crossed a pasture, crawled under another fence—

He walked the whole night out, stopping at times to sit thoughtfully in the darkness of someone's orchard, or to perch on a lunch stand's red-cushioned stool, to drink coffee and think. . . .

He tried to avoid thought of Lacey. Yet he must think about her. When dawn began to draw pencil-like marks upon the gray countryside, he still did not believe Hazell Barr's story.

But he had to realize, he told himself, that Lacey the lovely, Lacey the sweet, the youthful, the tender, was not young innocence, unspooled by life, untouched by it. Not any more than she was the nursemaid he had first decided her to be.

Had Lacey known the seriousness of her husband's heart condition? Chad could not imagine her deliberately staging an emotional scene which she knew would be dangerous to him. Perhaps on that tragic night she had been in bed, and the man had died from any one of a dozen causes. Over-fatigue, a heavy cold, or—maybe—after a scene with someone else.

That sweet air of Lacey's, as cool and as lovely as the first soft breeze of spring. Her gentle serenity. That couldn't be a practiced line! Yet—it could be. In the cradle, women were actresses. So Lacey, through training, or for some purpose of her own, could speak with the voice of a dove, smile in a way to caress a man's nerves, and be—

But he loved Lacey. He did love her! There wasn't a fiber in his body that did not cry out for her, no nerve but quivered at the thought of her. He knew with absolute certainty that if ever Chadburn Mays was to settle into a home, have a family or engage in some stable sort of medical practice, it would be with Lacey.

He had to have Lacey! He would have her. Even if he knew that she was a cheat and a liar; even if he knew that she was a murderer—he had to have her. Marry her. . . .

It was one of those mornings when Johnny seemed quite ready to drowse through breakfast.

Lacey sat with the newspaper unfurled, answered Johnny when he spoke, watched him from a corner of her glance. He was a winning little boy, handsome, imaginative, noisy but not quarrelsome, intelligent without being irritatingly precocious. Whatever doubt and tragedy her marriage had brought, Johnny was a precious reward.

"Mrs. Van Horn?" Lacey glanced up. Johnny pointed his spoon handle at the butter. "Drink your juice, Johnny," she murmured. "What is it, Warren?"

The old, thin cheeks were pink, the faded eyes distressed. "I'm sorry to tell you, ma'am, but Dr. Mays—I believe he is a friend of yours?—he seems to be asleep out on the terrace."

Johnny's eyes rounded and brightened. "Chad?" he cried shrilly. "Oh, good!"

Lacey's swift hand restrained him. "You have to finish your breakfast, Johnny."

"Aw . . ."

"You sit here and finish it, then Warren will let you come out and see Chad."

Defenseless in sleep, his red-brown hair tousled into curls, Chad looked scarcely older than Johnny, and, as with Johnny, Lacey felt her heart expand and warm.

She sat softly down beside him where he was stretched on the chaise, and laid her hand lightly upon his bare arm. He woke slowly, without stirring except that his lashes lifted from his cheek, and the relaxed muscles of his face drew taut.

He lay for a long minute gazing at her; then, suddenly, as if he were hinged upon a strong spring, he sat erect, and fiercely gathered her into his arms. He kissed her lips, and her eyes, each cheek and the tip of one ear, her throat—

"Oh, my lovely, my sweet," he murmured. "You will marry me, won't you? Say it, Lacey! You will!"

Laughing, starry-eyed, all blushes and confusion, she pulled away from him, though one hand still was held prisoner between his palms. "Johnny's coming out at any minute," she remonstrated but weakly. "I need call it—"

"Is much," laughed Chad. "Soft, and sweet—and lovely much!"

"I know, but—did something happen, Chad? I mean—for you to—"

"Don't tell me you didn't read about the lawsuit?" he demanded.

Lacey recovered herself with an obvious effort. "I meant," she said softly, "I meant—something—has something happened to us? To you and me?"

Chad dropped his feet to the flagstones, and sat hunched over, trying to reassemble the things he wanted to say. But Johnny came out just then, and Chad greeted the child, talked to him with real interest and then Johnny got into his tractor-trike to show Chad, and was contentedly chugging up and down the drive. Chad came back to Lacey, and spoke as if he had never left her side. "I want," he said gruffly, "you to tell me about your marriage. All about it!"

Lacey lifted her head and looked at him. She tried to smile. "No, Chad," she said gently, but with the finality of a book closed and set aside. "I won't talk about it—now."

It was the smile . . . . . Needles in his stomach. Chad turned swiftly and strode away from Lacey. He was suddenly very, very angry.

'Slogan' Smythe Is Gone

--By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — Death has claimed "Slogan" Smythe. The Republicans will miss him.

Things won't be the same without him at the GOP National Convention in San Francisco this week.

J. Henry Smythe, who became America's first professional sloganizer (he coined 100,000 slogans) has been a leading figure at Republican national conventions for more than half a century.

As some men are fire buffs, Smythe, who never sought or held public office, became a political buff.

At his first Republican convention in 1904 he leaped to the platform during a lull and belted through a megaphone:

"Hurrah for Teddy Roosevelt."

The roar of applause that followed set fire to young Smythe's mild soul. He never again achieved the spotlight, but he could no more stay away from a Republican convention than a toper could turn away from a bottle.

Although ostensibly a publisher of children's books and a creator of trade mark names and advertising slogans, his real interests were in political conventions and, as he put it himself, "the promotion of patriotism."

Smythe, who in middle age developed a passion to look like someone else (anyone who was famous), achieve another goal after a friend remarked, "You look like Benjamin Franklin."

He got a number of governors to declare special days honoring Franklin and was instrumental in getting Franklin's profile on the half dollar.

During World War I he coined more than 1,000 slogans and battle cries, such as "Lend to Defend," and "Keep the Hun on the Run."

He came up with at least 1,000 more slogans in World War II including, "Ack! Ack! Flak! Flak! Back the Attack!" and "Back Our Men—Buy Bonds Again."

Swept by slogan fever (sometimes he threw off 150 in a day during a strong seizure) he put his muse to the unpaid service of organizations plumping for everything from a bigger Flag Day to litter-free America. He even tried to popularize one of the Ten Commandments with "Do Not Covet; Be Above It."

Smythe usually was impartial at a Republican convention, often showing up with as many as 50 slogans for each presidential aspirant.

The acclaim accorded his 1936 masterpiece, "Let's Make it a Landslide," went to Smythe's head. He showed up at the Democratic convention that year proudly wearing an oversized Landon button. The outraged Democrats removed the button and gave him the heave-ho.

A peculiar thing happened to Smythe in the 1940s. He began to look like Franklin D. Roosevelt. The resemblance was so striking at the 1948 GOP convention that many delegates did a startled double-take as Smythe went by. They thought "that man" was still haunting them.

Smythe, far from being annoyed, was flattered to be told he looked like FDR. Perhaps the only public figure in American history he didn't want to look like was Aaron Burr.

A few months ago, thin and enfeebled from a long illness, he came into my office, turned his head sideways and asked:

"Who do I look like now?"

I confessed I wasn't sure, and he said wistfully:

"Many people now tell me I look exactly like Woodrow Wilson."

And, by gosh, he did! Smythe, a bachelor, died all alone in a local hospital, far from the convention excitement he loved.

Some thought him a busybody and a nuisance, but I liked him for what he was—a kind, gentle publicity loving eccentric who always was on the outside of things he wanted to belong to. Life doomed him to the fringes. But he remains an odd and charming footnote in American political folklore, and deserves at least a soft "hallelujah" in Heaven, where he is probably coining slogans like, "Make the Day Go; Shine Your Halo!"

4 County Girls Enter Project Of Wool Clothing

Four Pickaway County girls are cooperating with the "Make It Yourself With Wool" project sponsored by the International Wool Bureau.

This is the first year that Ohio has been included in this program, designed to promote the use of wool for clothing construction through the Ohio Wool Growers Association with Mr. Paul Getz as chairman.

The exhibit and placement contest for District 5 was held in London, August 17.

Sylvia Smith, Circleville; Nancy Cromley, Ashville; Carolyn Mowery, Mt. Sterling; and Barbara McKenzie, Circleville Route 1, modeled garments, they had constructed from woolen fabrics.

The narrator for this revue was Mary Lou Pfeiffer, director of Women's Activities for a Columbus radio station. Preceding the exhibits by the 52 girls in 3 categories of garments, Mrs. Pfeiffer presented a narrated and demonstrated lesson on "Modeling Tricks."

The state contest is August 24 during the Ohio State Fair.

Dedication Rites Honor Pickerts

A dedication service was held in the home of Mrs. Mildred E. Pickert Sunday.

Mrs. Pickert and her children just moved to their Circleville Route 4 home from California.

The ceremony was read by Mr. Ralph Elick, who is studying for the ministry.

Guests for the occasion were: The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cowen and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Elick and family, of Tarleton and Mrs. Icell Rizer of Columbus.

Those from Lancaster were: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Elick, Mr. Pearl Elick, Mrs. Albert Lang, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Disbenett and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Elick and family.

Personals

Logan Elm Grange will meet at 8 p. m. Tuesday in Pickaway Township School.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Hill of S. Pickaway St. entertained the following dinner guests: Mrs. Frank Roush and grandson Michael of Doster, Mich., and Mrs. Charles Jacobs and daughters, Patricia and Nannette of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Berger Hospital Guild 20 will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rose of Circleville Route 3 at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kerns, Mrs. M. E. Maxson and Mr. Roy Wadlington attended a picnic at Lancaster.

Calendar

TUESDAY
LOGAN ELM GRANGE, 8 P. M., in Pickaway Township School.

WEDNESDAY
BERGER HOSPITAL GUILD 20, 8 p. m., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rose of Circleville Route 3.

with navy velvet accessories and a white carnation corsage. A five-tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table, which was adorned with Emerald Mumrose fern and an arrangement of pink gladioli.

Mrs. Fred Fetherolf of Kingston Route 1 provided background music; Miss Jessie Jones and Miss Mary Louise Evans of Chillicothe registered the guests; and Mrs. Don Haynes, Mrs. Wayne Dresbach, Mrs. Robert Cadden, Miss Margaret Chilcote and Miss Joanne Judy served as hostesses. Approximately 300 guests attended from: San Antonio, Tex., and Kenosha, Wisc.; and Hamilton, Wilmington, Columbus, Middletown, Ansonia, Bucyrus, Greenfield, Powell, Dayton, Logan, Lancaster, Washington C. H., Ashville, Sabina, Clarksville, Worthington, Port William and neighboring towns.

For the newlyweds trip to a resort in Indiana, the bride wore a blue silk dress with white and black accessories and a corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The new Mrs. McMullen is a graduate of Salter Creek Township High School and the Ohio State University School of Nursing in Columbus, where she was a member of the nursing honorary and the Torch Club. She is now an employee of University Hospital.

Mr. McMullen was graduated from Port William High School and is now attending the Ohio State University College of Dentistry, where he is a member of Delta Sigma Delta, a dental fraternity.

Following the honeymoon trip the new couple will reside at 2099 Neil Ave. in Columbus.

Louise Starts Among Winners Of Camera Match

A local woman placed among the winners in the Camera-On-Columbus competition.

In a unique project sponsored by the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, 1500 photographs were studied by three nationally known judges, and a selection of one hundred prints were chosen to be enlarged for display in the Gallery.

The opening of the exhibit was August 17.

Louise Storts, manager of a local camera store, placed among the winners in the project.

The photographs were taken in a 48-hour period and were confined to a 25 mile radius of the State House.

Former Residents Enjoy Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stonerock and daughter have returned to their new home in Chillicothe after enjoying a vacation trip through New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Delaware, Pennsylvania,

Vacations Offer Rest From Routine

"I am not going to go away this vacation," a girl remarked at lunch. "I can not afford it. So I will stay home and get a few things done around the house."

That statement, no matter how you look at it, adds up to one big mistake. Everyone needs a vacation, a time to escape from the everyday routine, to relax in new surroundings. It is practically a health necessity.

Look at it this way:

For 50 weeks of the year we all pretty much pursue the same program. Some of us go out more than others. Some of us work harder. But whatever we do, it is the same thing, over and over again.

For the social butterfly, a vacation is time to rest up between engagements, as it were. It is an opportunity to get rid of dark circles under the eyes, to unfrazzle nerves, to bask in the sunshine and really R-E-S-T.

The gal who leads a quiet life, does little in a social way, needs a change of pace, too. A switch of scenery and a chance to social-

Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

The Stonerocks, who are formerly of Circleville, visited Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Farley and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Frey, also former residents of this community.

Mrs. Farley is the former Gloria Stonerock and Mrs. Frey is the former Mildred Stonerock.

4 Ball Mixed Foursome Played At Country Club

Members of Pickaway Country Club played a four ball mixed foursome Sunday at the Stoutsville Pk. golf course.

Diane Mason and Jack LeRoy received Low Gross while Maxine ize a bit will do her a world of good.

A vacation need not be expensive. Head for a resort close to home. But do go some place.

LeRoy and Bob Burton obtained Low Net. Ruth Athey and Bob Fraser were winners of the Low Putts.

The most six's for women was received by Clara Burton and the most four's for men by Don Olney. Following play a buffet supper and games party were enjoyed by the group.

It was announced that the Calcutta has been postponed to Sunday, September 2.

As advertised in Vogue and Harper's Bazaar

Margie Louise Dearth Weds James McMullen

Mt. Pleasant Church Scene Of Nuptials

Before an altar decorated with palms, baskets of white gladioli, fuji mums and chrysanthemums with seven branched candelabra, Miss Margie Louise Dearth and Mr. James Lincoln McMullen were married by the Rev. James Bartlett in the Mt. Pleasant Church of Kingston.

The former Miss Dearth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dearth of Kingston and Mr. McMullen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. McMullen of Wilmington.

For wedding the bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin. The round, low neckline of the dress was outlined with lace rosebuds and rhinestones and the long fitted sleeves tapered to points over her hands. Matching lace motifs enhanced the plaited ruffled apron and two wide plaited ruffles circled the chapel train, which buttoned into butterfly effects for the reception. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a half hat of shirred net and lace, fashioned with pearls and rhinestones and cascade spray of shattered carnations and lily of the valley formed the bridal bouquet. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Harold Dickerscheid of Columbus was matron of honor for her sister.

Mrs. Carl H. Shanks Jr. of Kenosha, Wisc., sister of the groom, Mrs. Harold Birkhold of Columbus and Miss Yvonne Drake of Laurelville were the bridesmaids.

The attendants wore identical floor-length gowns of mauve blue silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with princess styled panels in front and dropped gathered waistlines to the sides and backs. The dresses featured scooped necklines, cap sleeves and full skirts worn over hoops. They wore matching picture hats and white gloves, which were gifts of the bride, and they carried French baskets of pink asters and roses complemented with spikes of pink angle lace and knotted streamers.

Miss Connie Downs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Downs, scattered rose petals as she walked down the aisle to the altar, preceding her cousin, the bride. Miss Downs was attired in a floor-length gown identical to the attendants and she wore a circle of roses in her hair and gold bracelet, a gift of the bride.

Steve Kern, cousin of the bride and son of Mr. and Mrs. David Kern, carried the rings to altar on a white satin, heart shaped pillow.

Mr. Carl H. Shanks Jr. of Kenosha served as best man for the groom. Ushers were Mr. Bill Butts of Columbus and Mr. Rex Nash of Bethel.

Organist, Mrs. Ralph Dunkle of Circleville and Mrs. Gordon Dunkle of Columbus, violinist, presented the prenuptial music. Solo numbers were "At Dawning," "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" and during the ceremony the background music of "I Love You Truly" was played.

The reception was held in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Loring E. Hill with the patios transformed into the dining and serving areas and decorated in a pink color scheme.

Receiving the guests were: Mrs. Dearth attired in a street-length dress of blue-grey pima and silk, which featured a flared skirt and was topped with an embroidered lace coat of the same shade with matching accessories and a corsage of Eucharis lilies;

Mrs. McMullen wearing a rose colored lace dress over taffeta, fashioned with a beaded yolk, matching accessories and corsage of Eucharis lilies; and

Mrs. Stella Dresbach of Richmondale, grandmother of the bride, in a navy silk shantung suit

Cleveland Browns Lose, 28-17; Defeat Provides 3 Lessons

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Cleveland Browns were beaten 28-17 and outgained on the ground and in the air by the San Francisco 49ers in their first National Football League exhibition Sunday.

The Browns learned three things in the game: That foxy Frankie Albert, new coach of the 49ers, may be just as much future trouble for Cleveland's pro football champions in the role of coach as he was past trouble in the role of player.

That Vito (Babe) Parilli, the Browns' hope for replacing quarterback Otto Graham still needs considerable plish but is improving. He had only eight completions in 23 throws for 132 yards gained and hit for one touchdown. He made a last-quarter, 25-yard throw to Ray Renfro, as the Browns moved half the length of the field in 10 plays to score.

That rookie halfback Preston Carpenter, in the words of Coach Paul Brown, "can become an outstanding running back." The Arkansas speedster returned a punt 82 yards for a fourth-quarter touchdown and gained 37 yards in four runs from scrimmage.

Aside from those two touchdowns, the only Browns' points were five minutes after the game started, and Groza's two conversions.

Making his coaching debut, Albert, who used to drive opposing linemen dizzy with his hidden ball tricks pulled the oft-injured Hugh McElhenny off the bench Sunday and the Forty-Niners swept to the 28-17 victory.

Saturday night the Chicago Bears, sparked by the play of rookie halfback Perry Jeter, defeated the Chicago Cardinals 31-7 and the Green Bay Packers came from behind to overcome the Philadelphia Eagles, 27-6.

Jeter, fresh from California Poly, scored one touchdown and ran wild as the Bears beat their cross-town rivals who kept them from winning the division title last year.

In a shrine charity game, the Packers aided by the arm of Tobin Rote rode to victory over the Eagles. Rote also scored on a 2-yard plunge.

HELI-GOLF, or golf played with the assistance of a helicopter, is demonstrated at the Tam O'Shanter country club at Chicago by Cary Middlecoff, National Open champion, and Lloyd Mangrum, ex-National Open king. With the golf aces in the 'copter is George C. Snyder, the pilot. The idea is one flies to a green, socks the ball, enters the 'copter, flies to the next green, etc. Beats walking all hollow. ## Needles Comes 5th In Chicago Derby

CHICAGO (AP) — Swoon's Son has tossed the race for 3-year-old honors into confusion following his triumph in the American Derby in which favored Needles finished fifth.

Ridden by Eddie Arcaro, the E. Gay Drake entry swept to a three-quarters length victory in the $159,425 race Saturday and picked off the winner's share of $102,600.

The Warrior finished second and Toby B. was third. Needles, winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes among five major triumphs, failed in his bid for an undisputed claim to 3-year-old honors.

The D. and H. Stables star, ridden by Dave Erb, never made a serious bid. Ironically enough, Erb had his choice of Swoon's Son and Needles but chose Needles.

Los Angeles (AP) — Vic Janowicz, Washington Redskins halfback, may be lost to the team for a month as the result of injuries received in an auto accident, a team official said Sunday.

Janowicz, former football and baseball star at Ohio State University, suffered a severe concussion, cuts and bruises when the car in which he was riding struck a utility pole Saturday.

Redskins General Manager Dick McCann said physicians estimate Janowicz probably will be in Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital for 10 days.

Indians Hold Edge In Race For 2nd Place

CLEVELAND (AP) — A double victory over Kansas City sends the Cleveland Indians eastward to night with a fat four-game lead in what has been a three-way scramble all month for the second position in the American League.

Getting good pitching from Bob Lemon and Mike Garcia, the Tribe Sunday won 5-2 and 2-1 to close a seven-game home stand in the black ink, with four won and three lost.

The victories also picked up a game and a half for the Indians on the league-leading New York Yankees who lost in Baltimore 3-2. The Yanks have an 8½-game lead going into Tuesday night's opener of a two-game series at New York.

Bob Lemon won the 19th victory of his 11-season pitching career with the Tribe in Sunday's opener. He gave only five hits, three of them in the first two innings.

In the second game, the Athletics outthit the Indians eight to six, but the deciding blow was Preston Ward's eighth-inning single which broke a 1-1 tie that had held from the fifth inning when each team scored.

Hector Lopez fumbled Al Smith's grounder, and Al Rosen singled him to third to set the stage for Ward's game-winning hit.

CAMP PERRY (AP) — The two small bore rifle men on the U. S. Olympic team going to Melbourne, Australia, next month will be Arthur Jackson of Silver Spring, Md. and Army Lt. Verle Wright of Fort Wayne, Ind.

Army Lt. Daniel B. Puckell of Edgewood, Md. is alternate. This trio Sunday emerged on top of a field of 170 in a three-day elimination shoot at the National Rifle and Pistol Championships at Camp Perry.

Jackson, a member of the last two Olympic rifle teams, scored 3,452 of a possible 3,600. Wright had 3,448 and Puckell 3,441.

Sokolsky's These Days

Of course, this forecast has proved to be true in some countries in Central and South America and it was true in Italy, Germany, Soviet Russia and other nations where personality triumphed over principle, where party mastered the people. But it has not been true in the United States where whether the President was a powerful or a weak man, no dictatorship either of party or individual asserted itself. Washington possessed the power of prescience, for he was able to foresee many dangers to his country, a mong them this one:

...It (party loyalty) opens the doors to foreign influence and corruption, which find a facilitated access to the Government itself through the channels of party passions. Thus the policy and the will of one country are subjected to the policy and will of another."

Wayne Morse dared to appear at a Democratic Convention and to denounce "Party-firsters," namely those who never think of their country but only of the advantage to their party. He did not attack Herbert Hoover, as Sam Rayburn did twice, Rayburn apparently not realizing that Herbert Hoover has not run for the Presidency since 1932. Morse dealt with the real issues that face the United States not the phony personal antagonisms which do not actually exist but are articulated only for public consumption.

Savings Stressed When Hogs Are On High Quality Pasture

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville. The office here is the link between district farmers and the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University.

An acre of high-quality pasture can carry 20 hogs from weaning to market, reports the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in citing statistics by Missouri livestock specialists.

Pasture fed hogs require about 30 per cent less grain and 50 per cent less protein supplement, according to William Pugh, University of Missouri extension livestock specialist.

Pugh reports that savings of $3 per hog can be made when hogs are on high-quality pasture. Figuring a savings of 20 bushels of grain and 600 pounds of protein supplement, approximately $60 could be saved in feed costs in getting 20 hogs to market, Pugh estimates. This could mean $60 more profit per acre on hogs.

Good pasture not only increases profits per acre, but it provides good sanitation for hogs, the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee points out. It cuts down on filth-borne diseases that cause big hog losses each year.

"Three factors largely determine whether your pasture stands are good, bad or indifferent," says the committee. "These are: 1—The soil's fertility level; 2—The use of well-adapted legume-grass mixtures; 3—Good grazing management."

"A well-balanced supply of plant nutrients is particularly important. When the soil is properly limed and well stocked with nitrogen, phosphate and potash, higher yields of forage as well as more protein per acre are possible."

"Well established pastures can be profitably maintained by regular applications of fertilizer in the form of top-dressings each year."

A Wisconsin soils scientist reports that a thimbleful of fertile soil can contain more than 2 1/2 billion beneficial bacteria—or a number greater than all the people on earth today.

Prof. Emil Truog, at the University of Wisconsin, says that without these beneficial bacteria, the soil would become stagnant and dead. His statement was summarized by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee.

"These micro-organisms give life to a soil," says Truog. "They help make nutrients available to plants. They produce substances which promote a desirable granular condition in soils."

Truog points out that organic matter in the soil is the main food that nourishes these billions of micro-organisms.

Organic matter, he says, is sometimes called a "cure-all for sick soils."

"Organic matter not only promotes favorable biological conditions, but it also improves the physical condition of soils," he says. "Thus it increases the infiltration rate of water into the soil and decreases runoff and erosion. In addition, it promotes the availability of nutrient elements for crops."

"The possibility of adding more and more organic matter to the soils in the form of animal and green manures, is greatly aided by applying lime and fertilizer whenever needed. This promotes high yields of the crops which must serve as the original source of organic matter."

Three essentials for a well-balanced farming program are listed by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, based on suggestions by University of Missouri extension soils specialists.

1—The soil should be supplied with plant nutrients in proper balance and in sufficient quantities to produce high yields of quality crops.

2—Good soil tilth should provide favorable soil, water, air and temperature conditions. These conditions will encourage high-yielding growth of plants and the development of thick, healthy roots.

3—Conservation measures should protect the soil against losses from erosion.

"All the practices used in soil improvement," says the soils men "should be related to each other. Efficient fertilizer use must be related to the kind of land and the crop to be grown."

"Crops grown should be best suited to the individual farm's feed needs. This, in turn, depends on the kind and amount of livestock to be produced and the amount of machinery available."

The specialists point out that soil tests can give valuable information on the soil's fertility reserves. But other facts are needed before the tests can be used for practical fertilizer applications. These additional facts should include past cropping history, recent soil treatments used on the field, cultural practices, and how big an amount of corn stalks, leaves, straw, legume tops and roots and other residues are returned to the soil.

Connie Haines Has New Baby Boy

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Petite songstress Connie Haines, who normally weighs only about 100 pounds, gave birth to a 9 pound 14 1/2 ounce baby boy Sunday night.

The new arrival will be named after his father, Robert De Haven, a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force reserve employed as an executive and test pilot at Hughes Aircraft.

The baby is the couple's second child.

Mexico's fishing industry will export an estimated 20,000 tons of shrimp to the United States this year.

Banks Nearing Their Ceiling For New Loans

Business Borrowing At New High; Some Fear Further Curbs

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (P)—Business borrowing today is bumping the ceiling of the banks' ability to lend. And many businessmen fear that the Washington money managers are ready to make borrowing more expensive rather than easier.

Some clamor for an easing of credit so that industry can lay hands on funds to finance its record expansion program or to carry inventories that are growing more expensive to get. They contend that tight money will discourage the industrial building boom that is a main prop under good times. Tight money is accused of slowing down home building, one of the few weak spots.

But bankers here are speculating on when and how much the Federal Reserve Board may raise the discount rate. They think it fears a runaway boom will be built on surging confidence and inflation of money and credit.

The discount rate is the interest member banks pay when they borrow from the Federal Reserve System to get funds to lend to business.

If the discount rate goes to 3 per cent in all Federal Reserve districts, commercial banks are likely to raise their prime rate to 4 per cent at once. The prime rate is the interest that the top name business firms pay to borrow from the banks. Most business have to pay more than the prime rate.

To discourage borrowing to speed up the business boom, the Federal Reserve already has raised the discount rate five times in the last 17 months.

Other interest charges have started up again. Yields are up on government bonds. New corporate bond issues command higher interest—and in some cases in recent days corporations have withdrawn new issues because investors demanded a higher return than the would-be borrower wanted to pay.

Took Everything But Kitchen Sink

ALBUQUERQUE (P)—Thieves left the kitchen sink in a home owned by Mrs. William O'Sullivan, but not much else.

Police reported someone stole all the inside doors, furniture, hot water tank, east iron porch railings, a $1,700 heating unit and built-in bathtub.

Young Actress Has Trouble Proving She Is Not A Boy

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Take a good look at Dani Crayne and believe, if you dare, that this luscious actress ever has trouble convincing some people she isn't a boy.

In a town built on problems, Dani has one of the most unique yet.

Her trouble: The sound of that first name. It's pronounced the same as the masculine Danny. She often gets bills and other mail addressed to: Mr. Danny Crayne, Warner Bros. studio.

Even I once believed that Dani was an actor, not an actress. When she was under contract to Universal-International, a publicity man suggested an interview with Dani Crayne. Before he could describe her over the phone, I gave him a quick no and steered the conversation to Esther Williams, Jeanne Crain and others of that lovely ilk.

When I finally met Dani, I was ready to forfeit my card in the girl watchers society of Hollywood. She is about as much boy as Marilyn Monroe.

But her problem is a serious one, so serious that Warners wants to change her first name to Diana. She's reluctant.

"I think my only problem," she argues, "is to get enough people to see me. Then I could be called Irving and I don't think it would hurt."

She also argues that there has been quite a bit of exposure of the name, Dani Crayne. At U-I, she had good roles in several pictures, including the unreleased "Un-guarded Moment," in which she plays the second female lead in Miss Williams' first dry land picture since she swam away from Metro.

Possessing a figure that has more curves than are tossed in the New York Yankees' bullpen, Dani also was a cheesecake favorite at U-I. Those photos exposed more than her name.
